Editor's Choice / Larry Lough

We hope you like your new Journal with Relish

Your Journal today isn't just new and different - it's better.

And, we hope, better for you.

As you've already noticed, your local newspaper has a new size, a new look, and a new name.

The format is brighter and easier to use. We plan to show off our photography better and give more prominent display to the stories about your community.

The LakeLife and Lake County sections you're familiar with are part of the new package, and they've been upgraded, too.

But there's more. Much more.

Inside today are two new magazines that most of you will receive regularly with your Journal.

American Profile is a weekly magazine that tells the stories of regular folks. The magazine also has some celebrity news, a few recipes and items about down-home things you might want to know.

Relish is a monthly magazine that offers useful information about America's favorite pastime - eating. You'll find articles, tips and lists to help with meal preparation, healthy eating and lots more.

We want your thoughts about the new Journal, and about how we can continue to make it better.

Send your feedback and ideas to me at llough@nwnewsgroup.com.

And enjoy!

Shoppers leave the new Super Wal-Mart in Antioch. Wal-Mart has settled its lawsuit against the state of Illinois and Lake County attorney general offices for environmental violations during construction.

Calming the waters

Wal-Mart settlement will be used to help clean up Loon Lake

By TARA CLIFTON

tclifton@nwnewsgroup.com

Sometimes good things can come out of bad situations.

Mark Pfister hopes Loon Lake will benefit from this case.

Last week Wal-Mart Corp. settled a lawsuit that alleged one of its megastores contributed to water pollution during construction of a supercenter on the corner of Route 173 and Deep Lake Road in late 2003.

Part of the agreement mandates that Wal-Mart pay a civil penalty of $75,000, with $5,000 going to the Lake County Health Department and the rest to the state.

The county health department will use the settlement money to help clean and maintain the Loon lakes, said Pfister, associate director of environmental health for the health department.

The extra funds will help the Loon Lakes Management Association keep the waters up to the health department's high standards, Pfister said.

The association will clear obstructions from the channel between the two lakes and restore the shoreline, Pfister said.

Health officials are especially picky with the Loon lakes because they are home to several species of state-endangered plants and fish, Pfister said.

State and county attorney general offices filed the lawsuit against Wal-Mart in February, said Meg Marcouiller, chief deputy of civil for the Illinois Attorney General's office.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency asked the two offices to lodge the complaint after it suspected that lack of groundcover on the Wal-Mart construction site eroded the soil, Marcouiller said.

Heavy rains shoved sediment down into a roadside ditch, which drained into wetlands that connected with the Loon lakes, the lawsuit alleged.

The natural level of soil in the lakes, or suspended solids, is about 2.5 mg per liter, Pfister said. During Wal-Mart's construction, Pfister said county health workers measured sediment levels as high as 700 mg per liter.

"If too much soil runs off it will fill the water body, it could smother fish eggs, and ruin the water quality," Pfister said.

The lawsuit also claimed that Wal-Mart did not provide the IEPA with complete reports that are required under the terms of the National Pollution Discharge Elimination System storm water permit granted before construction began.

But things are looking up for the lakes. Wal-Mart has taken steps to prevent more stormwater from eroding the soil, Pfister said. Not only is a parking lot in place, but vegetation has been planted to also help prevent runoff.

Village of Antioch officials watched these events from the sidelines, said Mike Haley, village administrator.

"Antioch was not in the loop at all," Haley said. The issues were county and state related, thus the town was not involved, he said.

But Antioch has made at least one change since learning of Wal-Mart's supposed environmental violations, Haley said.

Previously, a construction site's topsoil was scraped off all at once, Haley said, greatly increasing the chance of soil erosion.

Now village officials require construction sites to be scraped in stages rather than all at once, Haley said.

Our Town

Hard work earns rank

Sixteen-year-old Tyler James of Lake Villa has earned the Eagle Scout rank, the highest honor given by the Boy Scouts of America. Good job!

Tyler has been a member of Boy Scout Troop 184 since he crossed over as a Webelo into Boy Scouts on Feb. 6, 2000.

His scoutmaster, William Withers, will present Tyler the Eagle badge and pin on Feb. 25

In addition to scouting, Tyler was recently inducted into the National Honor Society at LCHS where he plays tuba for the Lakes Marching Band. In his spare time he enjoys fishing and snowmobiling.

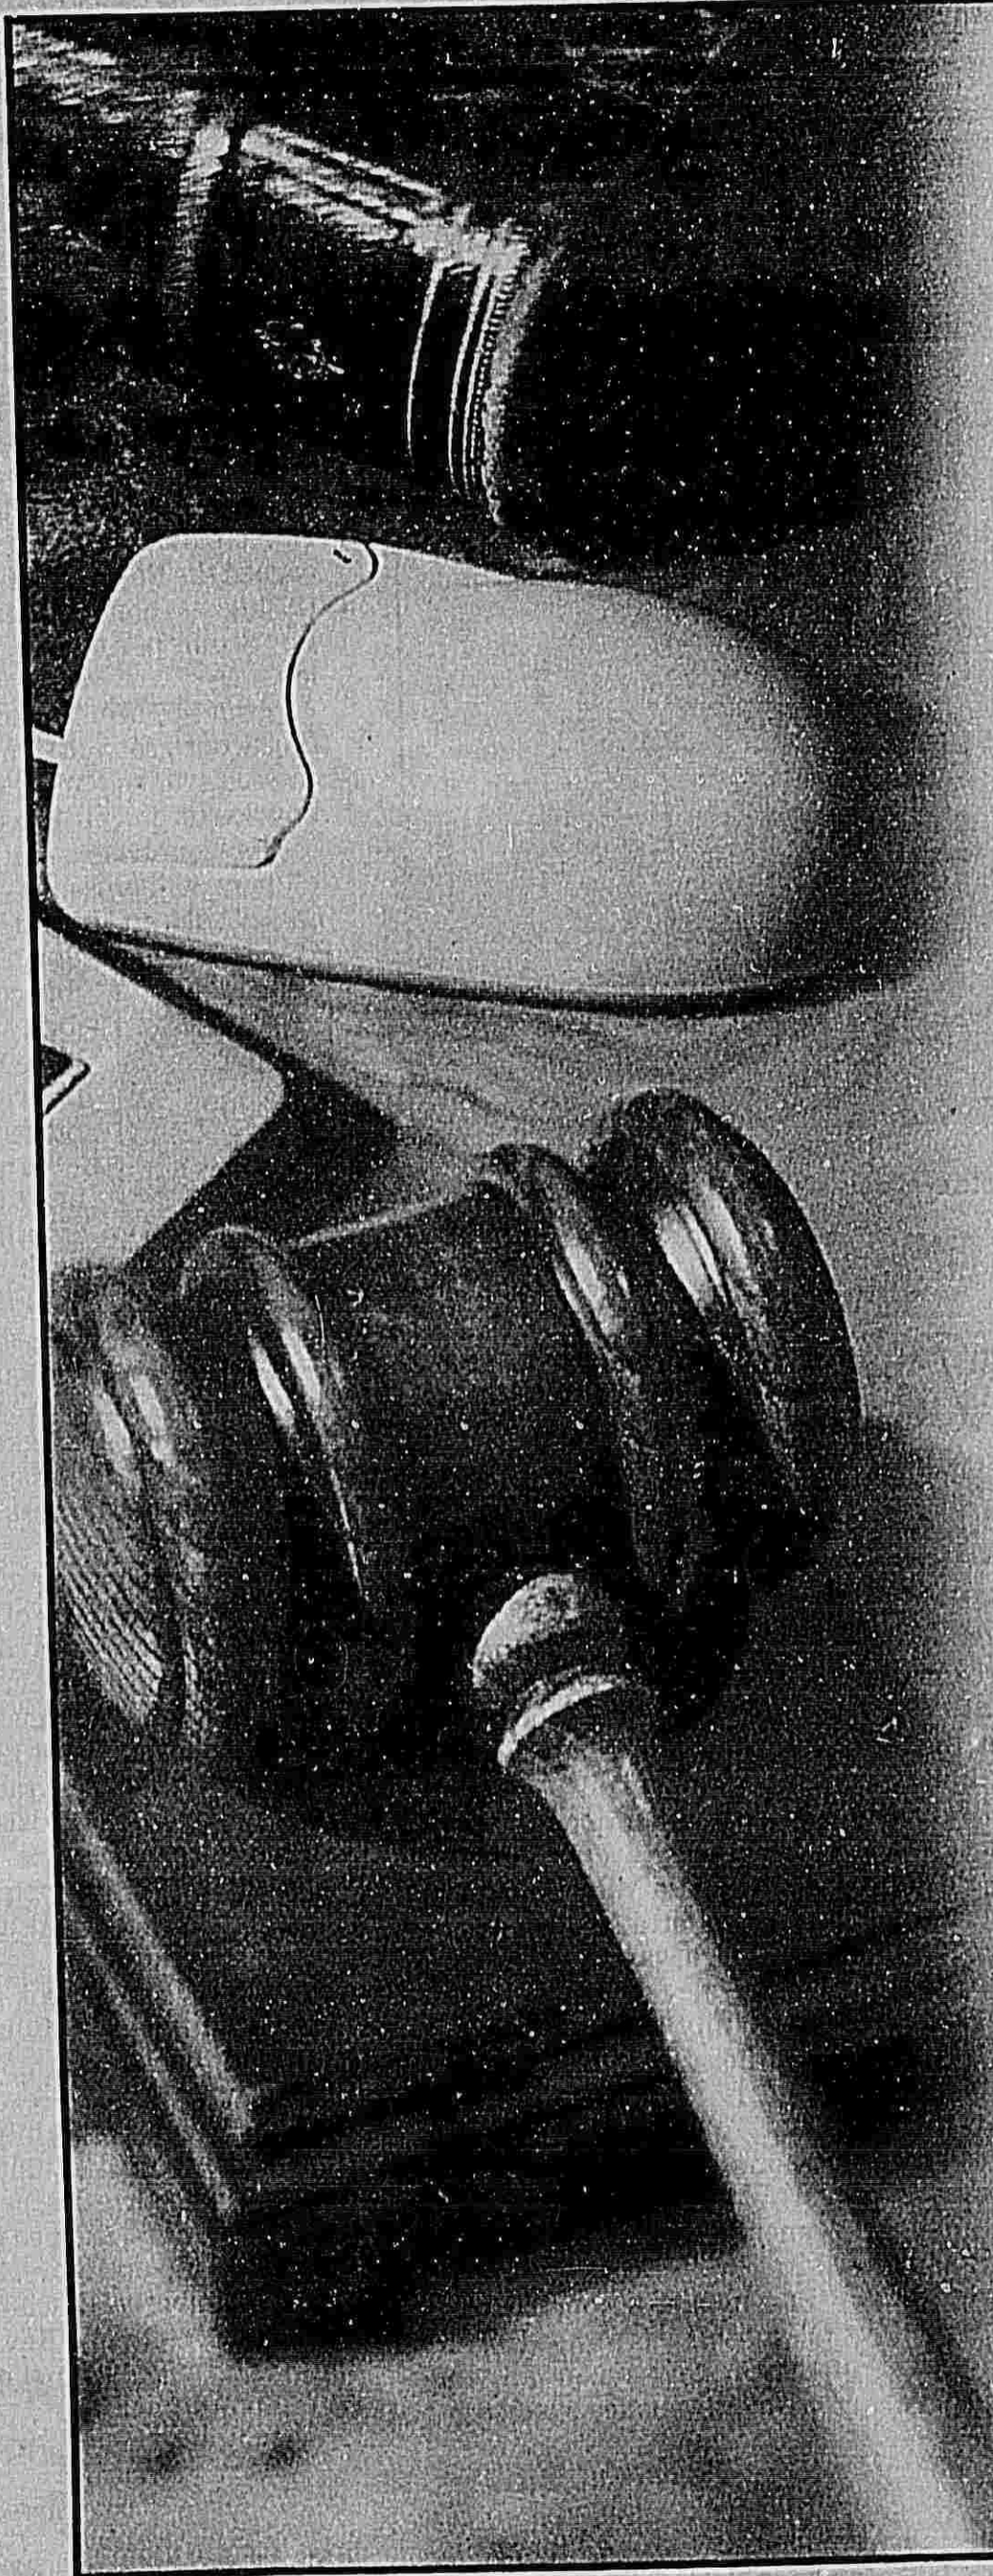

Tara Clifton

Johnathan K. Beese of Lake Villa also deserves a pat on the back. He earned a spot on Lewis University's deans' list. Johnathan took at least 12 hours of credit with a grade point average of at least 3.25 last semester.

Linda M. Hildebrand, a 2005 graduate of Antioch Community High School, graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas. During six weeks of training, Hildebrand studied military customs and courtesies, performing marches, learned rifle marksmanship and more. Her parents, Kimberly Hildebrand of Pahrump, Nev., and Kevin Smith of Lake Villa, must be very happy for her.

St. Peter kicks off Lent with prayer service

By TARA CLIFTON
tclifton@nwnewsgroup.com

The Reverend Ron Anglim looks upon burning palms during a prayer service Tuesday at St. Peter School in Antioch. Students used the ashes for Ash Wednesday.

Chris Mors, school principal, said the service was a great outside activity and enabled children to learn more about Catholicism.

"As always they get excited when they see things burning," Mors said, chuckling. But they also realize that the ashes worn on the forehead symbolize the Christian faith and remind them to live holy lives.

The palms burned were those that were used for last year's Palm Sunday services.

At the school students are taught that Lent gives Christians a chance to strengthen the three pillars of the faith: prayer, fasting and almsgiving. Kids are encouraged to talk with parents about the pillars.

D117 to address Crist resignation at board meeting

By TARA CLIFTON
tclifton@nwnewsgroup.com

To a group of 15 to 20 parents and students, seeing the Antioch/Lake Villa Township building void of school district 117 board members Tuesday confirmed the rumors they had heard all week:

Rob Crist, principal of Lakes Community High School, was no longer an employee of the district.

The district had scheduled an emergency board meeting but ended up canceling it around noon Tuesday, said Bill

Ahlers, the district's business manager.

Both parents and students were furious, upset that the district seemed to not be willing to give them answers.

"There's a big perception that there's a big communication problem in the district," Ron Tumminello told Bill Ahlers.

Rob Crist

A group had gathered around Ahlers, being the only official available at the time.

"There are things being done that are really suspicious," Tumminello said.

Ahlers confirmed that Crist put in his resignation letter to the administration, but said he could not go into any further details until the school board officially acted upon the information.

The board will do so Thursday at its regular meeting at 7 p.m. at the Antioch Community High School library.

Kateri, Tumminello's daughter and a sophomore at LCHS, said teachers and school officials had been acting strangely all week.

Kateri and two of her friends said they noticed that Crist was no where in sight. Usually he is roaming the hallways, Kateri said, talking with students.

"If they would just tell us what's going on there wouldn't be any rumors going around," Kateri said.

One woman told Ahlers that cancelling the meeting unexpectedly wasn't fair. "I'm just so mad," she said.

Get a grip on bathroom storage

Have you been bitten by the organizing bug? Are you constantly searching for new spots in your home for storage? If so, you're not alone. Suddenly, organizing your home spaces is "in" and there are entire television shows, magazines and stores devoted to helping homeowners clean up their act.

Even if you're not a natural organizer, you can get a grip on clutter in your home. Experts advise taking it room by room, and starting small, so you're not overwhelmed by the scope of the project. Set aside enough time so you can focus on the task at hand — you don't want to tear apart a room and have to stop midway through and run out to pick the kids up from school leaving the mess worse than before.

A good place to start is the bathroom. Usually the smallest room in the house, the bathroom is also the most heavily used. It serves as a dressing room, a first aid station, linen storage area, spa, hair salon and more.

While you may crave a room makeover, there are less drastic (and more affordable) solutions to battle bathroom clutter. For example, if you have room, replace your current vanity with one that offers more storage. You can also add usable space by installing shelves with pegs; this solves the practical problem of where to hang robes and towels while also providing a place to add some decorative touches.

One of the most innovative storage solutions is a sliding bath/shower door from Sterling that has storage built right in. The Stor-ganize door incorporates sturdy, modular, easy-to-clean shelves and hooks in a column that can be mounted on either the water spray or non-water spray end of the door. It eliminates those rusty shower caddies, flimsy wall brackets and cluttered bathtub ledges, and can store up to 15 bottles plus other accessories and bath toys. The Stor-ganize bath and shower doors come in two sizes — one that fits most standard 5-foot baths/showers and a model for a 60-inch showering space.

It's recommended to sort through assorted soaps, bath oils, shampoos, razors and toys from the shower and tub area.

You still have to get organized, however. Here's a step-by-step guide to decluttering and reorganizing your bathroom.

- Empty all cabinets, drawers, linen closets, medicine chests. Throw away any expired medications, no longer used or empty bottles, and threadbare towels.

- Clear all the assorted soaps, bath oils, shampoos, conditioners, razors and toys from the shower and tub areas, tossing anything that is leaking, empty or that looks like a lab experiment gone wrong.

- Now that the bathroom spaces are cleared, give them a thorough cleaning, especially areas such as under the sink that may not have seen the light of day for a while.

- Sort through the items you have collected and sort them in a way that makes sense to you. Then figure out the best way to store them.

Because storage space is at a premium in a small room like the bathroom, you may have to get creative to make the most of the space available. The good news is that you may be surprised by how much space you have now that you've weeded through and discarded some of the clutter.

Once you take stock of what you have to organize, head out to your local store to pick up storage supplies. Plastic pails or bins can store bath time toys out of sight; drawer dividers can help corral makeup and other miscellaneous items; small plastic boxes are great for storing medications (every family member can have a different color so there's never any confusion). Two-tiered under-the-sink storage shelves can double the space you have to stash toilet paper and cleaning supplies.

Once you get going, you'll come up with other clever storage solutions that will help keep your bathroom clutter-free. And you just might be motivated to tackle the basement!

The Sterling Stor-ganize bath/shower doors are available at The Home Depot nationwide or via Sterling's wholesale distributors. For more information, visit www.SterlingPlumbing.com or call (800) STERLING.

Simple, Affordable
Home Improvements

As spring arrives, along with it comes the spring cleaning season. Not surprisingly, more than 75 percent of Americans set aside specific time to complete an annual cleaning, according to a recent survey. And, the bathroom is the first place homeowners look to make drastic changes:

Save the counter. Does your bathroom countertop turn into a space for clutter? Try mounting some easy-to-install shelves where you can store your toothbrush, make-up, and other personal items that tend to take up precious counter space.

Curtain call. A new, colorful shower curtain can bring new life to your bathroom. But since shower curtains easily accumulate mold, make sure to clean it regularly with a product proven to kill the mold spores, like Tilex Mold & Mildew Remover.

Hamper Damper. Are clothes strewn through your "loo?" Procure a medium-sized clothing hamper to help the whole family keep the bathroom floor free of socks, pants, shirts and more.

Hottest trend in new home construction

If you're in the market for a new home and planning to build, you'll be pleasantly surprised by all the options available to you. These days, builders are offering all kinds of incentives to get customers through the door.

Among them: free upgrades to high-end appliances; decorative lighting fixtures; and the option of getting wood, tile, carpet, or a combination of the three installed at no extra cost.

But perhaps the most popular incentive is the offer to pre-wire the home for convenience and entertainment. Today's new home construction incorporates three levels of A/V built-ins: whole house audio; home automation; and home theater.

Whole house audio includes wiring for a speaker or speakers in every room for music and intercom; home automation involves connecting all systems in the house to a central computer that can do everything from turning lights on and off to preheating the oven when you're on your way home from work; but perhaps the most popular addition to new home construction these days is putting in a home theater.

The options in this arena are endless so it will require careful planning to make sure you get exactly what you want. The most important thing to decide before the wiring begins would be all the places you want a TV to go.

In the kitchen, that may be under a cabinet to save counter space. In the bedroom, family room or even the bathroom, it may be the wall to save floor space.

"If you'll be hanging a flat panel TV in your home it's important to let your contractor know ahead of time. They are thin, sleek and classy looking but they are also quite heavy and need to be securely fastened to the wall," says Keith Pribyl of Sanus Systems, a St. Paul, Minnesota-based company that designs and builds a broad variety of audio/video furnishings, mounts and accessories.

Deciding the location and size of your flat panel TV prior to building allows the contractor to place wall studs where they are needed, assuring the walls are strengthened for their load. It also allows for more options when it comes time to mount the device.

Flat panel TVs are getting thinner every year, but even the thinnest are still two-and-a-half to three inches thick so they stick out when mounted, unless you get one of Sanus Systems' new flush mount kits. They fit right into the wall and contain the mount and all the wiring you need in one convenient package. The kit can be put in after the house has been built, but is easiest to install during construction.

The Flush Mount kit is available at home electronics stores nationwide. To find the retailer nearest you, log on to www.sanus.com.

COMMUNITY

SPELLING F.U.N

After weeks of studying and anticipation, dozens of Lake County students took the stage of Antioch Community High School's auditorium Feb. 21 to put their nerves to the test in the Section Three regional finals of the 2006 Scripps National Spelling Bee.

Kacie Griffeth of B.J. Hooper School won the top prize and the chance to compete in the national competition May 31 to June 1 in Washington, D.C.

Section Three region of the 2006 Scripps National Spelling Bee begins at Antioch Community High School. The event was hosted by Antioch Upper Grade School and included participants from schools throughout Lake County.

B.J. Hooper School student Kacie Griffeth is congratulated by her mom, Jami, after winning the Section Three region of the 2006 Scripps National Spelling Bee at Antioch Community High School.

Kacie Griffeth correctly spells her final word as runner-up Nicholas Ezyk of St. Joseph School in Round Lake buries his head in his hands.

Raina Dwinell of Prairie Crossing Charter School in Grayslake is one of the last spellers remaining in the spelling bee.

500 Homes For Sale

$157,718.15. Sale terms: 25% down of the highest bid by certified funds at the close of the auction; the balance, in certified funds, is due within twenty-four (24) hours. The subject property is subject to general real estate taxes, special assessments, or special taxes levied against said real estate and is offered for sale without any representation as to quality or quantity of title and without recourse to Plaintiff and in "AS IS" condition. The sale is further subject to confirmation by the court. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. Upon payment in full of the amount bid, the purchaser will receive a Certificate of Sale that will entitle the purchaser to a deed to the real estate after confirmation of the sale. HOROSCOPEARIES - March 21/April 20

Don't beat around the bush when talking with a good friend about a personal problem. Open up to this person; you know that he or she will support you. A loved one asks to borrow money. Do what you can to help.

TAURUS-April 21/May 21
Don't back down when it comes to something that you really want during the middle of the week, Taurus. If you work diligently, your persistence will pay off. A close friend reveals a secret to you. Keep it to yourself. Cancer plays an important role late in the week.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

You get caught in a sticky situation early in the week, Gemini. To get out of it, you're going to have to think fast on your feet. So, don't panic. If you stay calm, you surely can handle this. A close friend introduces you to an interesting person late in the week. Get to know him or her better; this could be the one.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

Don't beat yourself up about a mistake that you make on Tuesday, Cancer. It's nothing serious, and it doesn't even cause a lot of problems for those involved. So, just apologize for the error, and move on. A loved one turns to you for romantic advice. Be honest with him or her.

LEO - July 23/August 23

Keep your eyes and ears open when talking with co-workers this week, Leo. Something is going on, but no one is saying what it is. Try to find out on your own. It will be worth the effort. A close friend wants to take you out late in the week; you're sure to have a good time. Scorpio plays a key role.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Try not to be late for an appointment this week, Virgo. If you are, you could miss out on a potentially lucrative opportunity. An interesting person asks you out. While you're a little nervous, say yes, because he or she could be the one for you.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Listen to a close friend when he or she offers you constructive criticism this week, Libra. This person isn't trying to be mean; he or she really wants to help you. It will be worth your while to take his or her advice. Cancer plays an important role.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't pretend to be someone you're not when you meet an interesting person this week, Scorpio. He or she is intelligent and will be able to see right through you. So, just be yourself. An acquaintance asks to borrow money. Even though you would like to help, don't. You know that this person isn't reliable.

SAGITTARIUS-Nov 23/Dec 21

Look on the bright side of things when you have a run of bad luck early in the week, Sagittarius. Things really aren't as bad as they seem. Besides, everything will get better by the end of the week. Aquarius plays an important role on Thursday.

CAPRICORN-Dec 22/Jan 20

Your ambition could cause you problems this week, Capricorn, if you're not careful. While you want to get ahead, don't step on those around you to get there. It only will make you look bad to some very important people. A close friend needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

AQUARIUS-Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't get upset with a loved one when he or she doesn't take your advice. While this person truly is interested in your opinion, he or she has to make his or her own decisions. Try to realize this. That special someone has a surprise for you late in the week. Enjoy!

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

A close friend needs your help with a family problem. While this person has brought this on himself or herself, you still should try to do something. Your efforts will be appreciated. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify your relationship. Say yes.

Give your new car personality

Back in the 1950s, '60s and even '70s, cars were built to impress.

Some models came standard with fancy grilles, hub caps and spoilers. Distinctive head and tail lights, fenders and mirrors set others apart.

Back then, people referred to their classmates as "the guy" with the 1957 Chevrolet Bel Air or "the fellow" with the 1953 Studebaker.

Today, most of the cars on the market look so similar, people don't even pay attention to what you're driving.

If you're among the growing number of people who don't think the "look" your car came with is distinctive enough and want to do something about it, here are some ideas:

Replace the wheels

One of the easiest, and most popular ways to dress a car up is by replacing the wheels or rims. You can find dozens of different finishes and styles in the aftermarket -- ranging from the present day standard of alloy rims to those polished with a distinct chrome finish. Some people even opt for eye-catching rims that include spinners which cause an optical illusion that the wheel is still spinning even when the vehicle is stopped.

Replace the grille

If you think your car's front end is plain, that's easy to change too by simply switching out the grille. "There are so many designs available today, there's something for everyone," says Jay Lusignan of Lund International, a Georgia-based automotive accessories company.

The Lund brand alone has four new designs for 2006, three of which are available for both cars and trucks. The Original Bar design features close-set bars. If you're looking for a more unique look, you may want to go with the Stylish Elliptical design or eye-catching Framed Perimeter design. All three are made with premium aircraft-grade billet aluminum construction for long-lasting durability.

Exclusively for trucks is the Rugged Diamond Plate design. It features durable 3/16-inch aluminum construction.

Log on to www.lundinternational.com for an idea of how each of the designs would look on your car or truck. All of Lund's grilles are easy to install, requiring no drilling on most vehicles.

Other cosmetic changes

In addition to replacing wheels and grilles, some people also like to personalize their cars by adding pin stripes and decals. If you'll be putting them on yourself, be sure to give the vehicle a thorough cleaning first. The stickers will peel off and weather quickly if dirt prevents them from bonding to the surface.

Lund accessories are available at auto parts stores across the country. To find the one closest to you, log on to www.lundinternational.com.

School districts to hold meeting

Representatives to come from all over county

By TARA CLIFTON
tclifton@nwnewsgroup.com

School funding is on the minds of several school district superintendents in Lake County.

And they will get to hear much on the subject, as well as other educational issues, at the spring dinner meeting of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

Representatives of school districts across the county will gather to learn about special education, the No Child Left Behind Act, legislation and school funding. Guest speakers will relate tips on how to apply this information to each district.

The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. March 9 at Millburn West School, 640 Freedom Way in Lindenhurst.

Jim Mezner, school district 24 superintendent, said he is looking forward to hearing about school funding topics.

Right now, property taxes are the biggest ways schools are funded, Mezner said, with 70 percent of their budgets coming from residents' pockets. State aid makes up the rest.

"We're killing our poor taxpayers with high property taxes," Mezner said.

Mezner said Ralph Martire, executive director of the Center for Tax and Budget Accountability in Chicago, will reveal a new idea of how to keep schools running without as much tax money.

Mezner said the proposal involves a small increase in income taxes along with a small decrease in property taxes.

Scott Thompson, school district 34 superintendent, said he is also interested in school funding issues, as well as getting the latest details on the No Child Left Behind Act.

"It's always changing," he said.

Mezner said educators will be bombarded with all kinds of information during the two-hour dinner meeting.

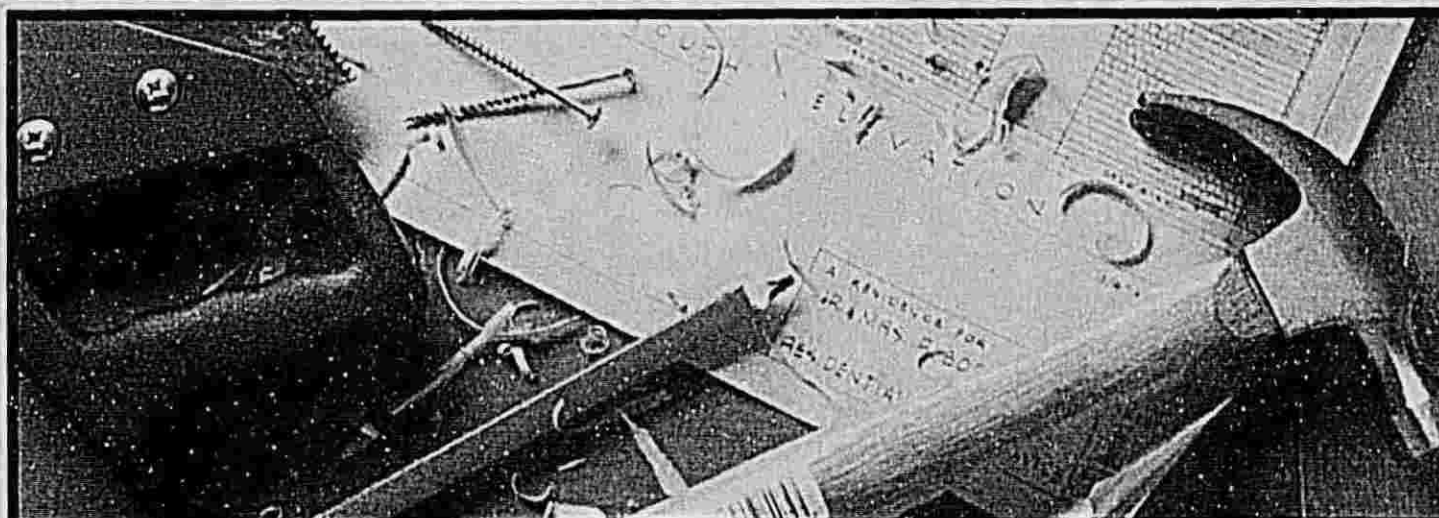

"There's probably enough there for two days," Mezner said.

But that gives officials more time to do what else they enjoy about the conference: socializing.

"We get to share ideas and work together," Thompson said.

Mike Anderson, school district 41 superintendent, said the meeting helps schools make sure they are doing the right things for their community.

"We're always on the outlook for things we need to adjust," Anderson said. "We want to make sure we're pushing in the right direction."

Open Arms grateful for help, raises funds

The Open Arms Mission wants to thank the community for its generous contributions during the holiday season. With residents' help, the mission provided meal boxes, holidays gifts and other daily necessities for over 500 people.

In March and April the mission will partner with the Feinstein Foundation, which is matching cash donations during these two months. The mission hopes to raise $15,000 to purchase food and other items for the summer when donations are usually lower.

ACHS jazz concerts

The Antioch Community High

School bands will present its final two performances of the Swing Street Cafe series. The school gym will be set up like a New York jazz club, complete with food, drinks and a dance floor.

A raffle will offer a wide range of prizes as well as a silent auction with some Swing Street Memorabilia signed by Mr. Olisar.

The shows start at 7:30 p.m. with doors opening at 7 p.m. at the high school, 1133 S. Main St.

Tickets can be bought at the door. Adults pay $6 and students and seniors pay $4. Kids under five years old are free. A limited number of pre-sale tickets are also available at a price of $12 each. These tickets will get concert-goers a 6 p.m. pasta dinner courtesy of Saluto's in Gurnee.

Call Lynne Keller at 847-395-1421 extension 8320 to purchase tickets in advance.

When it comes to neurosurgery, there are no simple answers.

Arynd Ahuja, MD, is helping lead the way in new surgical treatments for victims of stroke.

For those with disorders of the brain or spine, the treatment options are often complex. At St. Luke's Neuroscience Center, we help simplify the process through comprehensive diagnosis and personalized treatment plans developed for each patient.

As Wisconsin's leading provider of neurological services¹, we offer treatment options you won't find at all hospitals. We were the first in the state to install Gamma Knife technology and will soon be the first to offer innovative CyberKnife surgery, which uses precisely focused beams of radiation to treat disorders of the brain and spine – without making an incision. St. Luke's has also led the way with advanced, leading-edge treatments for brain tumors, cerebral aneurysms, stroke, acoustic neuromas and spinal disorders. Additional minimally invasive surgical techniques include intra-operative angiography and endovascular treatment.

If neurosurgery has been recommended for you or someone you know, contact our Second Opinion Program and schedule a comprehensive evaluation at our specialized facility at St. Luke's Medical Center.

Sequoits end season on tough loss against Round Lake in regional play-in game

By Daniel J. Patrick
dpatrik@nwnewsgroup.com

Basketball is one of the few sports when it can truly come down to one or two players. Sequoit fans got a taste of that in the Antioch Regional play-in game against Round Lake.

For Antioch, it was Alex McKenzie and for the Panthers, it was Jaquan Glover. The two stars battled it out, to the tune of 20 points for McKenzie while Glover finished the game with 24.

The outcome of the personal scoring contest turned out to be symbolic for the larger contest at hand as Round Lake was able to earn the 67-60 win and a game against the No. 4 Waukegan Bulldogs in the regional semifinal.

Round Lake coach Mark Petrynek was impressed with McKenzie and fellow Sequoit Chandler Kent's play. Kent, and John Heneberry rounded out Antioch's double-digit scorers with 16 and 10 points, respectively.

"They were really tough for us to handle because (McKenzie) and (Kent) were able to score pretty much at-will against us," Petrynek said. "McKenzie was stellar with his three-point shot, but luckily, Glover was really able to turn it on emotionally and it showed with his intensity in the game."

The Sequoits were in control of the game throughout the first quarter, but the Panthers took the lead with a stellar second quarter, outscoring Antioch 23-9 in the stanza. Round Lake's burst buried the Sequoits under a 33-21 deficit going into halftime.

The Sequoits were able to fight back into the game, outscoring Round Lake 18-15 in the third and 21-19 in the fourth quarter, but it just was not enough to take down the Panthers.

Antioch was able to keep in the game, thanks in large part to McKenzie's skill from beyond the arc. The junior guard drilled five three-pointers in the game for 15 of his team-high 20-points.

Glover's performance was a good mix between good outside shooting and a slashing offense, of course, 14 rebounds never hurts. Glover's play, coupled with a good inside presence from Jeremy Shedrick, who finished with 14 points and 10 boards, led to Round Lake's first postseason win in years.

"I'm really proud of the way we were able to play in such an emotional game," Petrynek said.

Round Lake also received double-digit efforts from seniors Caesar Moore and Brian Mendralla, who finished with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

"(Antioch's) a good team, there's no doubt about it, but we were able to come into that game with a lot of emotion," Petrynek said. "This was really a team-effort that helped us beat a really good team."

Antioch ends its season at 10-16 while Round Lake ended its 6-23 season the next night against the Waukegan Bulldogs with a 72-52 loss.

Lakes successfully hosts junior feeder tournament

The Lakes Junior Eagles boys basketball feeder program made history last month as they hosted their inaugural boys basketball feeder tournament. In only its first year of existence, the tourney attracted 17 sixth, seventh and eighth grade teams from a total of 10 high school feeder programs, including the Lakes Eagles.

The three-day tournament attracted players from all over the county and established the Lakes tourney as one of the best in Lake County. The host Junior Eagles also made names for themselves, scoring a second place overall finish in the tournament.

On The Sidelines

How do you like the new digs?

Unless you're a first time reader with our publication, you're probably noticing a few changes to the Lakeland Newspapers format. My only hope is that as you look at this, you're only thinking that we've changed for the better.

It's not often that a publication undergoes such a complete makeover, but one of the most obvious changes is our new tabloid format. Fear not, "tabloid" does not mean I will be changing my focus from local schools battling for supremacy to Batboy playing a game of hoops against the bearded lady.

Instead, means that rather than hunting for the sports section buried somewhere in the County pages that fans can simply flip the A Section over and enjoy.

There is a lot to be learned about this new format and in the coming weeks, hopefully you will all be as excited as I am about the changes. As with any drastic makeover, there might be a few hiccups, but I hope that everyone continues to read sports news that goes beyond the scores with Lakeland Newspapers.

With Warren coming out the victor of their own sectional last week, I only see it as fitting that I name my All-IHSA Tournament team for this year. Covering the games over the past few weeks, I have definitely seen my fair share of heroism, (or in this case, heroine-ism?) but these girls have stood far and above as leaders.

ALL-TOURNAMENT TEAM

Sarah Boothe
Warren

This was a surprisingly not a slam dunk choice like it should be because Boothe has not had the chance to truly shine in the tourney because of constant foul trouble that has kept her on the bench.

Dan Patrick

However, despite playing less than two full quarters against Libertyville, she still managed double digit scoring (11) for her lowest output.

Carol Kruckman

Libertyville

Kruckman served as a bespectacled one-person wrecking crew throughout Libertyville's foray into the sectional semi-final. At the Prairie Ridge Regional championship, she led the way with 16 points in a 38-37 nailbiter. Even in defeat, Kruckman was stellar, scoring 11 points and pulling down 15 boards against Warren.

Shara Swager

Mundelein

Sometimes, you've just got to wait for your turn and Swager patiently waited for her chance to shine and came brilliantly. Swager almost single-handedly kept the Mustangs in contention with Warren in the regional final, scoring 18 of her team's 44 points.

Guilliana Lopez

Warren

This girl can dribble, score, defend and most of all, act as an anchor on the high-powered Blue Devils squad. Did I mention defend, because Lopez has an uncanny knack for getting into opponents' heads with not only her game, but her world class trash-talking mouth.

Megan McCarthy

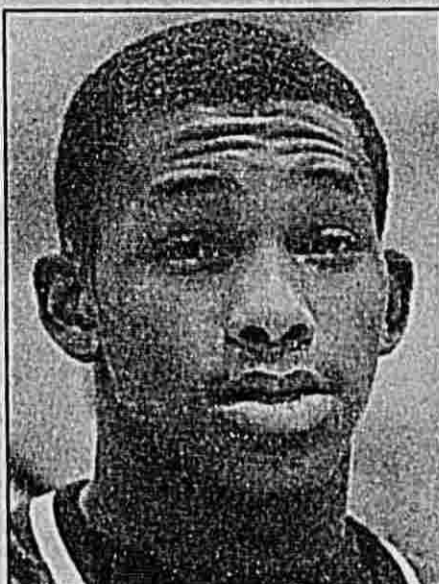

Antioch

McCarthy didn't have the type of scoring output that some of the other All-Tourney members did, but the manner with which she scored was stellar. McCarthy was instrumental in bringing the Sequoits back from a 12-point deficit, scoring the final five points in the regional semifinal, hitting a 3-pointer and two free throws in a 53-52 win.

TEAM AWARD

Grant - Much-maligned past issues aside, the Bulldogs still had a great run as a team with Jamie Swanson, Ashley Arff, Kaela Munster, Trista Munster, Sonja Cellucci and others all coming up big at different times for the Bulldogs.

Athletes of the Week

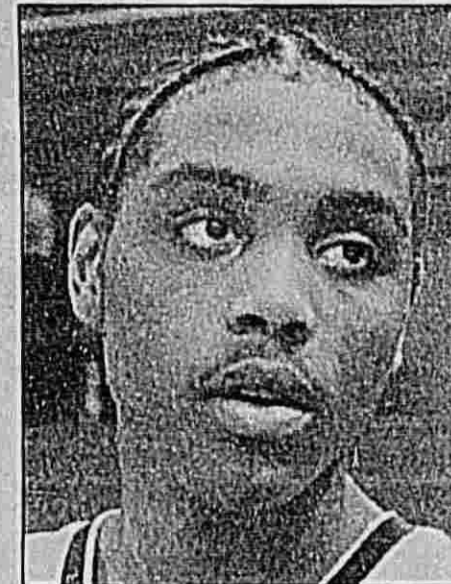

JAQUAN GLOVER

Round Lake found itself in an unusual position - in the winner's circle of a IHSA Tournament game thanks to the stellar play of Panther junior swingman Jaquan Glover. Glover scored a game-high 24-points and pulled down 14 boards against Antioch in the regional play-in game last week.

SARAH BOOTHE

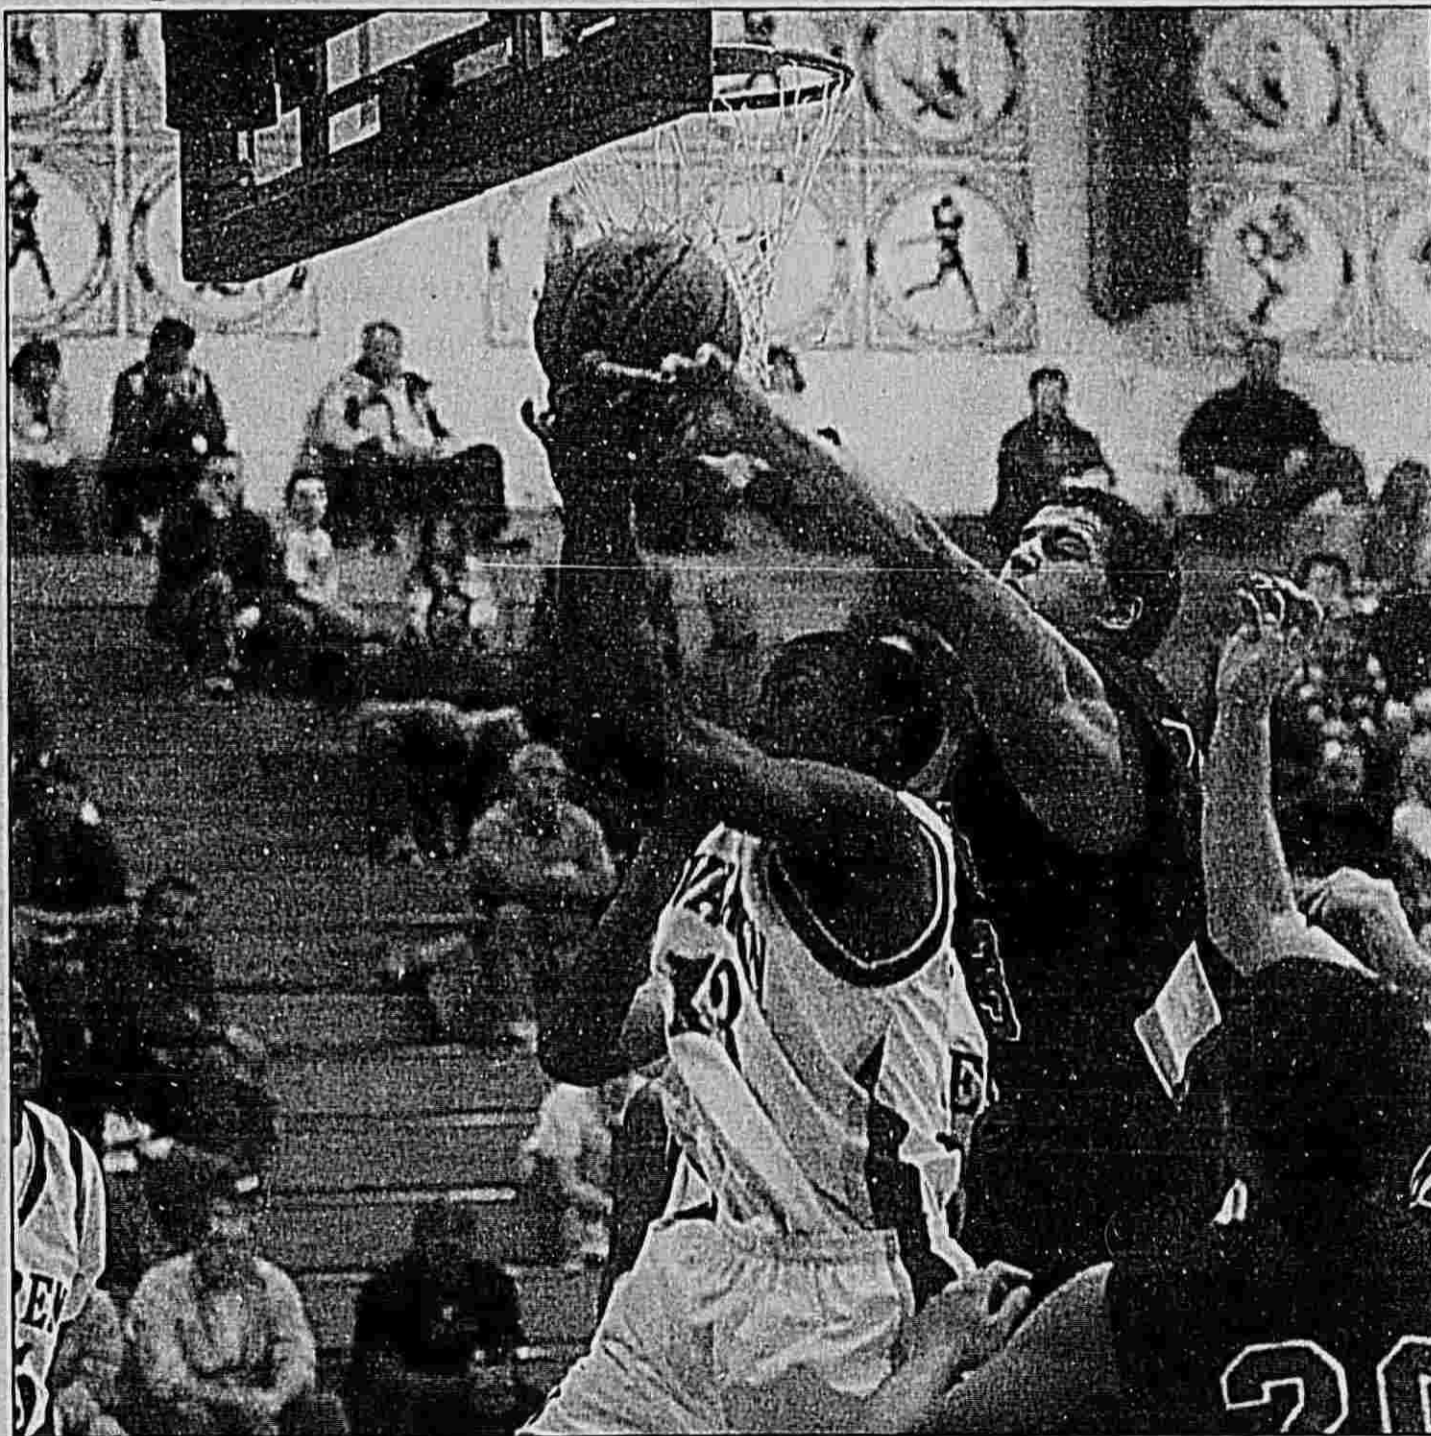

Even foul trouble and Warren's heartbreaking Super Sectional loss against Buffalo Grove can't keep Blue Devil center Sarah Boothe from shining. The 6-foot-4-inch center had a game-high 16 points and pulled down 12 rebounds, shooting 50-percent from the field despite spending nearly half of the second quarter on the bench.

RICKY MILLER

Waukegan's formula for success in the Antioch Regional semifinal involved one simple ingredient, and it stands at 6-feet-6-inches tall. After a pesky Round Lake squad stayed within six points in the second half, Miller's presence down low was too much to handle as he finished with 22 points, 10 rebounds and 3 blocks in the game.

Close quarters

Junior Julian Jones, Warren jumps up for the shot as Mundelein sophomore Anthony Giannaris, defends the hoop during the regional play at Mundelein High school.

Women's suffrage in the U.S. was a century-long fight

By TARA CLIFTON
tclifton@nwnewsgroup.com

In 1917, Rose Winslow found herself imprisoned again.

As part of the National Woman's Party, she had picketed as the lead demonstrator in front of the White House with hundreds of party members. The women were pressuring President Woodrow Wilson to give females the right to vote.

Once in the District's jail and the Occoquan Workhouse, Winslow refused to eat and work to protest her arrest. These "hunger strikes" had become a common but powerful way that suffragettes fought for equal treatment.

In response to the strike, prison guards often force fed women who refused food. Winslow experienced this often, and in 1917 she endured it once more.

Held down by several guards, a tube was shoved into Winslow's mouth, scraping its way down to her stomach. A liquid concoction was poured down the tube, filling Winslow's stomach against her will.

Before women won the right to vote in 1920, thousands of women faced beatings, forced feedings, death threats, police retaliation and more.

But the passage of the 19th Amendment made decades of struggle worth it. As voters go to the polls this month and residents celebrate Women's History Month, the past must not be forgotten. Below is a brief timeline of events in the battle for women's suffrage.

1776

Abigail Adams asked her husband, John, in a letter to "remember the ladies" while he attended the Continental Congress in Philadelphia. At the end of the conference, the Declaration of Independence was finished, and stated that "All men are created equal"—except women and blacks.

Marriott offers a sprightly 'Thoroughly Modern Millie'

By TOM WITOM

Marriott Theatre's audiences have come to expect productions featuring solid acting, singing and dancing from mostly tried-and-true musicals, and in "Thoroughly Modern Millie," the venue delivers exactly that.

The musical comedy, a Broadway hit in 2002, is a derivative based on a popular 1967 film.

Snappily directed by Marc Robin, "Millie" is from a book by Richard Morris and Dick Scanlan; it has new music by Jeanine Tesori and new lyrics by Dick Scanlan. "Forget About the Boy," "What Do I Need with Love?" and the title song are among its familiar numbers.

The time frame is 1922 and the place, New York City. It's the height of the Roaring Twenties, when women were entering the workforce and updating the rules of romantic engagement. A resolute young stenographer from Heartland America, Millie Dillmount (the superb Tari Kelly), has just arrived, ready to take the town by storm. Almost immediately a thief makes off with her purse and one of her shoes.

But that's not enough to dissuade her from pursuing her objective: to meet and marry a millionaire.

A chance encounter with a seemingly poor but popular playboy, Jimmy Smith (Stephen Schellhardt), leads Millie to a rooming house for budding actresses. That place, and its eccentric proprietor, con artist Mrs. Meers (the masterfully comedic Rosalyn Rahn Kerins), is the jumping-off point for the musical's silly, lightweight — albeit amusing — storyline.

Like Kelly and Schellhardt, the supporting cast holds their own as singers. Especially good are Joanna McKenzie Miller as Miss Dorothy, Millie's new best friend; E. Faye Butler as Muzzy Van Hossmere, a celebrity and socialite of a certain age; and Brian Herriott, Millie's business-minded boss, Trevor Graydon. Herriott and McKenzie bring down the house with "I'm Falling in Love with Someone."

Comedy reaches a high pitch in scenes during which the shady boardinghouse keeper coerces her two Chinese employees (played by Dawen Wang and Emir Yonzon) to carry out her scheme to kidnap certain vulnerable tenants. Their song, "Not for the Life of Me," is sung in their native tongue with English subtitles. Later, this is reversed, with English lyrics translated on overhead screens into Cantonese.

Meanwhile, Catherine Lord chalks up high marks as the hard-driving, over-the-top office manager, Miss Flannery.

"Thoroughly Modern Millie" charms with its romantic songs, lively music, good-natured humor and well-executed dance numbers, from tap routines to the era's hallmark, the Charleston.

Cast of Urinetown the Musical

'Urinetown the Musical' begins performance at Mercury Theater

"Urinetown the Musical", Broadway's Tony-Award winning musical hit, created by Chicago's own Mark Hollmann and Greg Kotis, will receive its first locally produced Chicago run this spring in an open ended engagement at Chicago's intimate Mercury Theatre, 3745 N. Southport, beginning March 15.

Originally staged for the 1999 New York Fringe Festival, "Urinetown the Musical", with its rich musical score, outrageously funny characters and situation, and surprising lack of bathroom humor, quickly became the talk of the town. Set in a city so drought-stricken that the corrupt Urine Good Company can gouge the desperate populace for the "privilege to pee," the musical is a satirical tale of greed, corruption, romance and revolution.

The performance schedule for "Urinetown" is Wednesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 p.m., Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 5 and 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 5 p.m.

For tickets, contact Mercury Theater at 773-325-1700.

'Desperate Measures' offered at Apple Holler

"Desperate Measures", a western musical loosely based in Shakespeare's Measure for Measure book, is being performed at Apple Holler, 5006 S. Sylvania Ave. in Syurtevant, Wis., through July 16.

In this wacky wild west musical comedy, a hot-headed young cowboy named Johnny Blood is set to hang for a murder he was wrongly convicted of. This tale involves his sister, a novice nun, an evil governor, a crafty sheriff, a lusty saloon girl and a boozy agnostic priest.

Lunch plus show is available Monday through Friday. Dinner plus show is available seven days a week. Reservations are required.

Call 800-238-3629 for information.

Opera in Focus presented in Rolling Meadows

Opera in Focus Repertoire will be presented every Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday at 1:30 p.m. through Dec. 23. Lavish in its staging and costuming, Opera in Focus magnificently presents operas and operettas with puppets moving to recorded music. The uniquely animated rod puppets, the only ones of their kind, are the wonderful invention of William B. Fosse and, for many, will bring back memories of the old Kungsholm Miniature Grand Opera.

Opera in Focus is located at Park Central, 3000 Central Rd. in Rolling Meadows. Doors

The Irish American Heritage Center in Chicago will host its St. Patrick's Day Festival on March 11 and St. Patrick's Day Party on March 17. Dancers will be part of the entertainment.

IAHC plans two St. Pat's events

The Irish American Heritage Center will host two St. Patrick's Day celebrations this March at the IAHC, all under one roof.

On March 11, the IAHC will have its St. Patrick's Festival following the downtown Chicago St. Patrick's Day parade.

The festivities last 1 p.m. and to midnight and include traditional and contemporary Irish music, dance, food and children's activities.

This year the children's area will remain open until 8 p.m. to accommodate families and there will be more activities for kids.

There will be live entertainment by Chicago Irish dance schools, such as by Trinity Irish Dancers and Rince Na Cara and live music with local Irish musicians, including Kennedy's Kitchen and Dyed in the Wool.

The Shannon Rovers Irish Band will make its annual appearance. There will be a special performance by balladeer Paddy Homan, direct from Ireland. Tickets are $15 for adults, or $12 for advance purchase if purchased before March 9.

Children 12 and younger are free with a paying adult. Only 3,000 tickets will be sold.

On March 17 the IAHC will host its annual St. Patrick's Day party in the Center's Fifth Province Lounge. The event runs from 11 a.m. until 1 a.m. The day begins with Mass at 11 a.m., and the pub opens at noon.

Events include Irish dancing, traditional and modern Irish music and food. Live entertainment includes The Chancey Brothers, The Matt Stedman Band, Tony Leonard's Band and direct from Ireland, Tim O'Shea and Jonathan Roche. The cost is $10.

To purchase tickets for both events, call (773) 282-7035, Ext. 10.

The Irish American Heritage Center is located at 4626 N. Know Ave. in Chicago.

Designed to provide young musicians the opportunity to refine their performing skills, Rising Stars encourages audiences to experience and support new talent while presenting musicians with the chance to perform before perceptive audiences in an intimate setting.

See young Stars shine at Ravinia

Musicians refine performing skills in concert

The Corigliano Quartet make their debut in Ravinia Festival's Rising Stars series 8 p.m. March 3. The quartet includes violinists Michael Jinsoo Lim and Lina Bahn, violist Melia Watras and cellist Amy Sue Barston.

The festival is dedicated to developing the full potential of emerging artists, beginning with their participation in the Steans Institute for Young Artists, performances on the Rising Stars series and, ultimately, their Chicago

Symphony Orchestra debut on the pavilion stage.

Following The Corigliano Quartet are Musicians from Ravinia's Steans Institute for Young Artists, featuring violinist and chairman of the Steans faculty Miriam Fried, violinist Linus Roth, violist David Kim, cellist Julia Bruskin and pianist Matan Porat, on March 31; and violinist Nicola Benedetti, on April 7.

The Albert Pick Jr. Fund Piano Series includes

Alexander Kobrin, on March 10; Javier Perianes, on April 21.

All Rising Stars concerts begin at 8 p.m. in Bennett Gordon Hall, Ravinia's acoustically perfect 450-seat recital hall located in the John D. Harza Building.

The Ravinia Festival is located on Lake Cook and Green Bay roads in Highland Park. Tickets for Rising Stars concerts are $15.

For information, call the box office at (847) 266-5100.

Batiashvili will make her debut in March

Violinist adds to Chicago orchestra

On March 30 and April 1, conductor Charles Dutoit is joined by violinist Lisa Batiashvili for his second week of subscription concerts with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra this season.

They will be leading the ensemble in Sibelius' spectacular and haunting Violin Concerto and Shostakovich's noble and ironic Symphony No. 15. These performances mark Batiashvili's Orchestra Hall debut.

Still in her mid-20s, the Georgian-born violinist Lisa Batiashvili has already made a strong impression on the international music scene, with successes throughout Europe and North America.

Show times are 8 p.m. with pre-concert conversation at 7 p.m. Tickets are $29 to $119. They can be purchased by calling PhoneCharge at (312) 294-3000 or 1-800-223-7114.

A different look at the best of 2005

By PAM SINGLETON

The annual California gold rush will undoubtedly lay claim to the best ratings on television Sunday night, March 5th. Oscar, the golden statuette and symbol of the Academy Awards, will be clutched and held high in many hands, as actors and directors set in motion plans to mine their newly rewarded stakes to fame.

It was a pretty good year for moviegoers. From my seat on the aisle I was entertained, informed and sometimes appalled by reflections of our human behavior.

Clearly, one film stands out as a masterpiece of storytelling and brilliant ensemble acting that resonates with me nearly everyday as I watch the news or read the paper. The film is "Crash," the best picture of 2005. This story's volatile, razor-sharp expression of fear tears at our societal fabric and reveals the unraveling of our prejudices, real and imagined. No other recent movie has so convincingly captured the experience that is the United States of America. There's some character, emotion, or situation portrayed on that screen with which each of us can identify.

My other favorite films from 2005 I'll share with you in random order. Some are clearly standouts for their originality of point of view and others are definitive as a "best of type."

"Good Night, and Good Luck" is the best cautionary tale of what can happen when citizens fall asleep and allow their liberties to be taken away under the guise of patriotism. "Syriana," through its labyrinthine plot that no one is expected to completely follow a best reflects this country's foreign policy...or lack thereof. "Munich," which begins with the murders of 11 Israeli athletes at the 1972

Olympics, best frames our minds to calculate how the world got to the collapse of the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001. So much for the geo-political realm.

"Brokeback Mountain," a wonderful, revelatory love story that might take some attitudes from "don't ask, don't tell" to "a change of hearts and minds."

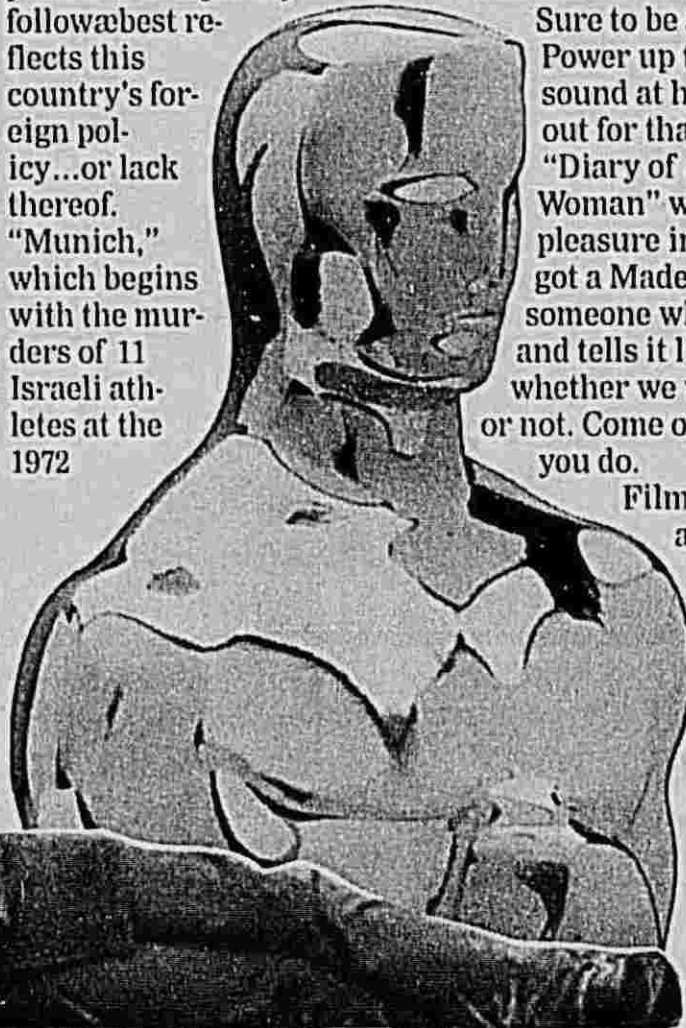

"Junebug," a delightfully quirky and honest attempt to reach out to those close to us.

"The Best of Youth." The best six hours I've spent at the movies. Rent it on DVD and take your time to savor this Italian epic.

"Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire" an amazing ongoing series of films, and the best use of bright, young talent.

"King Kong." The most fun I had at the movies last year. Sure to be a DVD hit. Power up the surround sound at home and watch out for that raptor! "Diary of a Mad Black Woman" was my guilty pleasure in 2005. We've all got a Madea in the family; someone who takes charge and tells it like it is, whether we want to hear it or not. Come on, you know you do.

Films that are not at your corner video store can be found at Dog Ear Music and Videos. They are located at 117 West Rockland Road in Libertyville. 847-362-5666.

● New Releases

These films are currently playing at local theaters. An average of six new reviews a week as well as recent releases can be found under Now Playing at www.reel-moviecritic.com.

16 BLOCKS: A character-driven action thriller that stars Bruce Willis as Jack Mosley, a broken down NY detective assigned to escort a petty criminal (Mos Def) from the precinct to the courthouse. The seemingly simple 16-block journey becomes a test of character for them when Jack's ex-partners attempt to stop them. The story of how two men change each other during a tense 118-minute struggle between life and death. (PG-13)

BLOCK PARTY: "Dave Chappelle's Block Party" spotlights comedy superstar Dave Chappelle as he presents a Brooklyn neighborhood with its very own, once-in-a-lifetime, free block party. The unprecedented combination of comedy and music was shot on location. In addition to Chappelle performing all-new material, the stellar roster of artists includes: Kanye West, Mos Def (also in this week's "16 Blocks"), Talib Kweli, Common, Dead Prez, Erykah Badu, Jill Scott, the Roots, Cody Chestnutt, Big Daddy Kane, and - reunited for their first performance in over seven years - the Fugees. This movie about hip-hop is also historically and politically relevant. Chappelle has comic timing like the best in the business. Even his bad jokes are good. (R)

3rd Annual Lake County Film Festival

By GEORGE AND PAM SINGLETON

The Lake County Film Festival was founded to provide promising independent film talent the opportunity to find a wider audience. Nat Dykeman, owner of Dog Ear Music & Movies, saw how hungry customers were for great independent cinema. Despite Lake County's size of over 750,000 residents, there are few movie screens reserved for non-blockbusters. Movie lovers of all ages and walks of life come to Dog Ear at 117 West Rockland Road in Libertyville looking for something they cannot find at the local cineplexes. In 2004, Nat decided to change that and the Lake County Film Festival was born.

This year the selection of films has grown such that they span five days, showing 19 feature length films and 59 short films in five venues: The Liberty Theater, Highland Park Theater, Regal Cinema in Lincolnshire, the Libertyville Civic Center and the CLC Auditorium.

Some of the films to consider are listed below. One thing each film has in common other than being 30 minutes or less is that they are quirky. No Hollywood formula stuff here yet none are in the far out geeky category. To our surprise, we liked each film that we picked up to screen at random.

"21 Carbs": 21 grams are how many carbs are in the small bag of potato chips that ruins Shelly's diet. A spoof of both of Alejandro González Iñárritu's films, "21 Grams" and "Amores Perros" (Iñárritu's short film, "Mexico" was shown at the 1st Lake County Film Festival), 21 Carbs is both funny and thoughtful.

"The Appropriately False Portrayal of the Dr. Steven Ackerman Affair": A preposterously long title for such a short film, but fortunately, it's funny enough for a title twice as long. We can tell you that Dr. Ackerman was killed, but was it his adulterous lover, his jealous biographer or his lover's husband? Are any of these people even competent enough to commit murder?

"Arc" by Steve Gelder: The DVD cover said, "It's like SIDEWAYS...with Beer!", and it's an apt description. At 30 minutes, this film works best like wine, when it breathes. Arc is quirky, funny, and disarms you before turning into a sweet fable about love, loss, insanity and the need to communicate. And beer. Arc has screened in over 20 festivals worldwide, and won 10 awards.

"I Killed Zoe Day": Wyatt and Billy wake up after a wild night out and they can't remember anything! When they discover pop star Zoe Day shot dead in a pool of blood in the next room, they must begin to reconstruct their vague fragmented memories of what really happened last night to realize the truth: who really did kill Zoe Day?

"Smartcard": Smart Card is a tale of a utopian future where every aspect of your life is integrated into one system. Convenience and simplicity is the product and Smart Corporation does the packaging. Robert has been living this care free life and everything is perfect, until he encounters a philosophical vagrant at a local fueling station who steals the one item you can not do without: the "SMART CARD."

For advance tickets, please stop by Dog Ear Music & Movies, or you may purchase your tickets by calling them at 847.362.5666 or via email at nat@dogear.biz. Cash, check and Visa/MasterCard accepted for Festival events.

Potato-leek tart one of many delights in 'Fields of Plenty'

By TOM WITOM

"Fields of Plenty: A Farmer's Journey in Search of Real Food and the People Who Grow It" (Chronicle) is a lively memoir written by Michael Ableman, who lives and farms on Salt Spring Island in British Columbia with his wife and two sons.

Abelman, founder of an education center and working organic farm in central California, journeyed across the United States (including stops in Illinois) with his eldest son Aaron, seeking out the personal stories of like-minded farmers and food artisans. The resulting book is a treasure trove of both narrative and recipes.

"Rustic Potato and Leek Tart" is a wonderful example of the delightful recipes Abelman has uncovered. The detailed, step-by-step instructions make creating such a dish a snap.

Corned Beef Reuben Dip

Total preparation and cooking time: 19 to 22 minutes

6 ounces cooked corned beef brisket or deli corned beef, finely chopped (about 1-1/3 cups)
3/4 cup drained sauerkraut with caraway seeds
3/4 cup mayonnaise
1/3 cup plus 2 tablespoons shredded Swiss cheese, divided
1/3 cup prepared Thousand Island dressing
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper
Chopped green onions or fresh parsley (optional)
Pita chips, whole-grain crackers, rye crackers or rye cocktail bread

1. Heat oven to 425°F. Combine corned beef brisket, sauerkraut, mayonnaise, 1/3 cup cheese, dressing, horseradish and red pepper in small bowl. Spread evenly into 9-inch pie plate. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons cheese.

2. Bake 9 to 12 minutes or until heated through and bubbly. Garnish with green onions, if desired. Serve with pita chips, crackers or cocktail bread.

Makes 20 appetizer servings (about 2 tablespoons each)

Cook's Tip: Dip may be prepared up to 24 hours in advance; do not bake. Cover and refrigerate until ready to use. Bake, uncovered, in 425°F oven 15 to 16 minutes or until heated through and bubbly.

Reduced-Fat Variation: Prepare recipe as above, substituting reduced-fat mayonnaise, Swiss cheese and Thousand Island dressing.

Savory Tart Dough
1 one-quarter cups all-purpose flour
One-half tsp. sugar
One-half tsp. kosher salt
One-half cup cold unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
About one-quarter cup ice water

1 lb. leeks
1 Tbl. olive oil
2 one-half Tbl. unsalted butter
Kosher salt to taste
One-third lb. small, yellow potatoes, such as Yellow Finn or Yukon Gold, cut into very thin, round slices
Freshly cracked black pepper to taste
2 oz. fresh goat cheese, chilled
1 egg, beaten
1 Tbl. thinly sliced fresh chives

To make the savory tart dough: Combine the flour, sugar and salt in a large bowl. Add half of the butter. Using your hands, gently toss the butter around to coat each piece with the flour mixture – this helps the butter to cut in evenly. Using a pastry cutter or 2 knives, cut the butter into the flour mixture until it is the texture of coarse oatmeal. Add the remaining butter, gently toss again to coat each piece with the flour mixture and quickly cut again until the larger pieces are about the size of lima beans.

Rustic Potato and Leek Tart

Sprinkle the ice water into the bowl in 2 or 3 additions, using your hands to lightly toss the mixture between your fingers and moisten it evenly. Stop adding water when the dough looks raggedy and rough but holds together when you gently squeeze a small amount in the palm of your hand. Form the dough into a ball – be careful not to knead it, just squeeze it gently into one solid mass. Wrap the dough ball tightly in plastic and press it into a flat disk. Refrigerate for several hours to relax the gluten and chill before using.

Position a rack in the lower third of the oven and, if available, place a pizza stone on top. Preheat the oven to 400 degrees F.

On a lightly floured work surface, roll out the tart dough into a 14-inch circle. Brush off any excess flour on both sides with a dry pastry brush. Translate the dough to a baking sheet lined with parchment paper and refrigerate while you cook the leeks.

To prepare the leeks: Trim the tough, dark green tops and peel off an outer layer or two. Halve the leeks lengthwise and then cut each leek crosswise into thin half-moon slices. Wash the leeks in a large basin of cold water, agitating to remove all of the dirt. When the dirt has settled, scoop the leeks out of the water with a strainer. (It's not necessary for the leeks to drain thoroughly – the water helps prevent the leeks from drying out when sauteed.)

Heat a medium saute pan over medium heat and add the olive oil and 1 tablespoon of the butter. When the butter has melted, add the leeks and a generous pinch of salt and saute until the leeks are tender, about 8 minutes. (Add a splash of water if the pan goes dry before the leeks are done.) Remove from the heat and let cool.

In a small saucepan, melt the remaining one and one-half tablespoons of butter and set aside. Remove the dough round from the refrigerator and spread the leeks evenly over the dough, leaving a one and one-half inch border. Place the potato slices on top of the leeks, overlapping them here and there. Season the potatoes evenly with salt and a few twists of pepper. Drizzle the melted butter over the potatoes and crumble the goat cheese on top. Fold the exposed border over the potatoes, making pleats about every 3 inches, and lightly brush the dough with the egg.

Bake for 15 minutes. Rotate the tart and bake for about 15 more minutes, until the crust is golden. Transfer to a wire rack. Let the tart cool for a few minutes, then sprinkle the chives on top. Serve warm or at room temperature.

Corned Beef & Roasted Vegetable Salad With Lemon-Dill Dressing

Total preparation and cooking time: 20 minutes

12 ounces reserved cooked corned beef brisket, coarsely chopped
5 cups thinly sliced savoy or green cabbage (about 1 pound)
5 cups mixed salad greens (about 3-1/2 ounces)
3/4 cup reserved roasted carrots
3/4 cup reserved roasted parsnips
1/2 cup toasted chopped walnuts

Lemon-Dill Dressing:

1/2 cup reserved Lemon-Mustard Sauce
1 tablespoon sherry vinegar or white wine vinegar
Salt and pepper

1. Whisk Lemon-Dill Dressing ingredients in small bowl. Set aside.

2. Combine corned beef, cabbage, salad greens, carrots, parsnips and walnuts in large bowl. Add Lemon-Dill Dressing; toss to coat evenly. Season with salt and pepper, as desired.

Women picketed White House came the first co-educational college in the U.S. In 1841 the first academic degrees were awarded to three Oberlin women graduates.

1848

In Seneca Falls, N.Y., the first women's rights convention was held. This marked the start of the women's movement with the "Declaration of Sentiment and Resolutions" which sets an action plan towards equal treatment of women.

1866

Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony formed the American Equal Rights Association. The group pledged to gain universal suffrage, and was open to black and white women.

1872

Susan B. Anthony was arrested and brought to trial in Rochester, N.Y., after she was caught attempting to vote for Ulysses S. Grant. At the same time, Sojourner Truth demanded a ballot at a polling booth in Battle Creek, Mich.,

and was turned away.

1878

The Woman Suffrage Amendment was introduced in the U.S. Congress.

1893

Colorado became the first state to adopt a state amendment enfranchising women.

1912

Theodore Roosevelt's Progressive (Bull Moose/Republican) party became the first national political party to adopt a woman suffrage platform.

1913

Alice Paul and Lucy Burns organized the Congressional Union, later known as the National Woman's Party. Members of the party engaged in radical tactics borrowed from a militant women's organization in England. Woman's Party members engaged in hunger strikes, picketed the White House and participated in other forms of civil disobedience.

1916

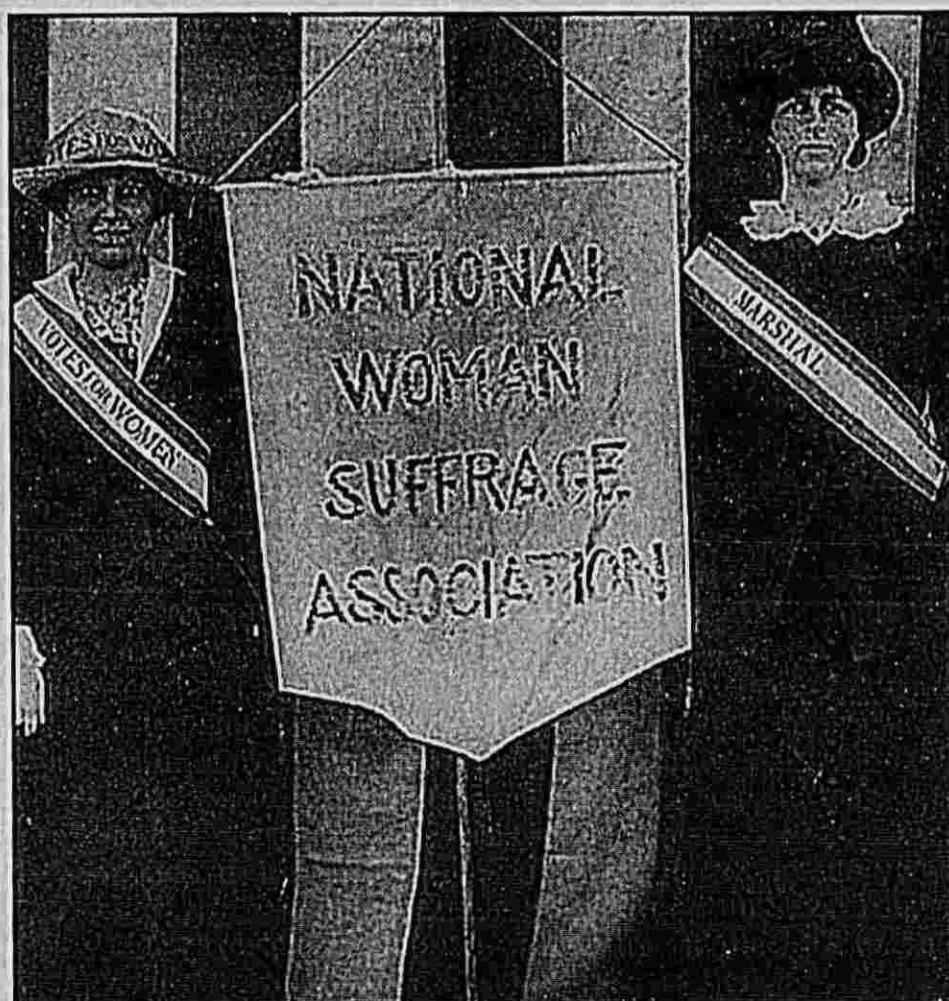

Jeannette Rankin of Montana becomes the first American woman elected to represent her state in the U.S. House of Representatives.

August 26, 1920

The 19th Amendment is ratified by both houses of Congress. The National American Woman Suffrage Association ceased to exist with its mission accomplished, but became the base for the League of Women Voters.

Early voting off to good start in Lake County

By HELEN MANSFIELD
news@nwnewsgroup.com

Are you the kind of voter who likes to do their civic duty, but hates to waiting in long lines come Election Day? Well then the Lake County Clerk's Office has good news for you.

Registered Lake County voters are now able to cast their vote early for the general primary election on March 21.

Voters were able to start voting as of Monday and though some neighboring counties are reporting low turn out, Lake County Clerk Willard Helander said she is pleased with the 200-plus folks who came out on Monday.

"It's a brand new program," Helander said of early voting.

Cook County, which has millions of voters in Chicago alone, had a little more than 400 people vote on Monday.

Helander said with approximately 367,000-registered voters in Lake County, 213 voters aren't too bad.

"I think people responded pretty well," she said.

Helander said once someone comes in to early vote, then are then marked as having voted. This prevents them from mailing in an absentee ballot or coming in to vote on March 21.

"This provides accuracy and integrity to voters," she said of the process.

Though it's not a presidential election year, Helander said she both political parties will work to get the voters out with early voting. She said she can actually see a point where people will be "mobilized" by voting in mobile polling places that can drive through districts.

"I think (early voting) will become an effective tool to leverage votes, especially for the 8th Congressional District race in the fall," she said.

Early voting for the March 21 general primary will be available in 16 townships, six municipal offices and, of course, the Lake County Clerk's Office until Thursday, March 16.

Kathleen Smith, Antioch Township Clerk said turn out was a little slow on Monday, with only nine registered voters coming in.

"It's all new, so we d didn't know what to expect," Smith said.

Smith has been township clerk since 1997 and said that so far the early voter numbers are probably equal to those they would see in absentee voting.

She adds early voting has been convenient for Avon Township residents.

Sherry Doyle and her sister Randi Grossman have seen a lot of things come and go in Round Lake since they moved there as small children from Chicago.

Their mother, Marcine Pennington, worked at the old Round Lake Journal for almost six years back in the 1950s. Doyle and Grossman are both in their 50s now and admit they are both a little fuzzy on what their mother exactly did in the old downtown newspaper office.

Grossman thinks her mother was in advertising sales. Doyle thinks Pennington used to setting copy into type and general office work.

Either way, it is because of Pennington that the two young girls are featured in the accompanying photo with a Chicago legend, Uncle Ned.

Most folks remember the late Norbert Locke as Ringmaster Ned from the old Bozo's Circus Show on WGN Channel 9 in Chicago from 1961-75. Prior to that, Locke and a man named "Uncle Bucky" hosted "Noon-time Comics."

Both Uncles Bucky and Ned came to Round Lake Consolidated School back in 1958 to entertain the students. The pair had been featured on the cover of the Round Lake Journal the week of the event, so in the interest of cross-promotion, the two were photographed holding copies of the Round Lake Journal.

Grossman was 6 years old and Doyle was 9 years old when the photo was taken. Today, the two are both employed by the new Lakeland Journals.

She has been at Lakeland for almost two years as a sales assistant, and her sister Doyle will have been in advertising sales for 26 years this month.

"It was a small publication," Grossman said of the old Round Lake Journal.

Started in 1938, the Round

Lake Journal was operated by Signey "Sig" West.

At the time, Grossman said it was one of the only newspapers around.

Doyle said the new incarnation of the Round Lake Journal is similar to that of the first one.

"It was so long ago; it's come full-circle," she said.

"There was a Round Lake Journal then and there will be again."

Doyle said her mother worked for West for five or six years at the Journal before it sort of "went away" as West pursued other business ventures.

"It brings back a lot of old-time memories and it brings my Mom back," Grossman said of the old photo.

Pennington died 10 years ago.

Grossman said she never sat in the audience for Bozo's Circus or even competed in the Grand Prize Game portion of the show, but as a member of the Round Lake High School drill team, she and other members of the R-Lettes performed for the WGN audience.

The photo "brings back good memories. We were a close family, and I get a lot of warm memories," Doyle said. "Everything comes full-circle again."

Residents flood hearing on no-anchor bay section

By JEFF GARD

jgard@nwnewsgroup.com

A Fox Waterway Agency public hearing Feb. 23 pitted boaters against homeowners over whether the agency should create a no-anchor area on a portion of Columbia Bay on the northeast side of Fox Lake.

More than 200 people crammed into the McHenry Municipal Center to hear attorney Don Hemmesch Jr. present a petition signed by 25 members of the Buena Park and Sunset Park Homeowners Associations.

According to the petition, the homeowners want the agency to create a no-anchor area within 225 feet of the 1,350-foot-long shoreline west of West Sunset Lane and Buena Avenue.

"You can't legislate good conduct," he said, "but good fences make good neighbors."

Hemmesch and other home-

Boater worries

David Vogeler said this yacht club was against the proposal for a no-anchor area for fear that more homeowners would want the shoreline restricted to boats.

owners described problems with boaters who block homeowners' piers, trespass, and use lawns as bathrooms for their dogs.

Agency Chairman Howard "Bud" Scott said the board of directors would not make a decision on the petition until the March 9 meeting.

Scott said boaters and homeowners should reach a compromise that was acceptable to both.

"We need to respect a person's right to use the Chain," Scott said, "but I don't want a person's right to use the Chain to restrict my privileges."

The agency received dozens of letters and e-mails supporting and opposing the no-anchor area.

Fleet 17 Commodore David Vogeler said the yacht club opposed creating a no-anchor area in Columbia Bay because it would set a precedent.

"It will open up the floodgates for every homeowners association to request the same thing," he said. "There are sections of the river where if you requested restrictions within 225 feet from the shore, we wouldn't have room to go down the middle."

Many boaters complained that homeowners should take pictures of the offenders and call the Lake County Sheriff to enforce trespassing laws.

Steve Nelson, a Sunset Park homeowner with 450 feet of lakefront property, said he tried that last summer and had at least eight angry boaters chase him off his own pier.

"It's awful [expletive] hard to call the sheriff when you're running for your life," he said.

Annual home show finds itself under new ownership

Event will give ideas for repair projects

The annual home show at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake is going to be at its usual location, but the event will be under a new production company. The show is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, March 4-5 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the commercial building of the Lake County Fairgrounds.

According to Peggy Ruh, associate producer of Full House Productions, the former producer of the home show opted out of the show this year, so now Full House has taken the event over.

"But we are really looking forward to it," Ruh said of the show.

Full House Productions has been hosting home shows for almost 20 years and though this is their first venture in Grayslake, they have approximately 80 vendors set up for the show.

She hopes that homeowners and commercial property owners will see hundreds of ideas for various improvements.

"We'll have everything from pools, spas and roofs," Ruh said.

They'll see the latest in home remodeling and repair products and services.

Homeowners and commercial property owners having plans for improvements, or needing to schedule repair projects, will see hundreds of new ideas.

What it means

For attendance information, visit the web at www.ChicagoHomeShows.net. Those wishing to exhibit at The Home Show should call (630) 551-9191 for availability.

Our View

Early voting ends excuse

With voters lukewarm about going to the polls, states and the feds are trooping out new ideas to increase voting traffic.

This is the first election in which Illinois will offer "early voting," an option available in 30 states to improve voter turnout. Early voting began this week; the primary is March 21.

Registered voters can use early ballots through March 16 at 22 locations throughout Lake County. Hours vary at the early-voting stations, but the offices are open every day. Most townships even offer Saturday hours for convenience.

Unlike absentee voting, residents do not need a reason for early voting. All they need is to be a registered voter and have a government photo ID, such as a driver's license. Voting must be done in person.

Primaries are notorious for low voting numbers.

Primaries are disappointing civic acts, with participation usually less than 30 percent. Early voting might help improve the numbers.

This is something new to Illinois, and it will take some getting used to by voters, county clerk's offices, candidates and political parties.

It has the potential for to change election dynamics, especially in close races with candidates who have strong grass-roots organizations. Now, not only will they plant campaign signs, work the telephone lines and go door to door, they have a tool that opens a whole new world. Find and win over early voters.

People say they are too busy to vote, and Tuesdays might not fit in their schedules. That is not reason enough to get an absentee ballot. In 2002, about a quarter of people used the booked-schedule excuse, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Early voting is excuse-free.

But voters still have to be interested enough to bother. Busyness is one reason in the way of learning about the issues or voting.

But a bigger reason likely is plain apathy. Why bother? Voters need to read newspapers, watch political programs or check Web sites. Too much of a hassle.

That's sad commentary for one of the most important rights of citizenship.

Many people crave convenience. Early voting is made just for them.

New Lakeland Journals bring fresh approach to local news

Welcome to the new Lakeland Journals!

During the past 12 weeks, your local newspaper has been working feverishly behind the scenes to plan numerous upgrades and improvements to your local newspaper.

First off, we've changed our name to Journals to reflect the unity of our 12 local newspapers. This wasn't an easy decision, as many of our readers have grown up with the Antioch News, Grayslake Times and Wauconda Leader for more than 100 years, not to mention other Lakeland papers that have been around for decades. But after many discussions, we decided that our newspapers serve the community better with a strong, unified voice that a single Journal name can bring.

The other big change you've probably already noticed is the size of the paper we print on. Industry research and reader trends overwhelming show a preference toward the easy-to-read tabloid size.

A complete re-design of the Bob Schroeder

Other notable improvements include adding staff to our reporting team, more local stories and photos from your community, a monthly food magazine, Relish, and a weekly, people-focused publication, American Profile.

Today's date has been circled on every calendar at the Lakeland Media building for months. There is definitely a sense of accomplishment here - as well as a sense of relief in completing this project. Bottom line is that we've made all these changes to bring our readers the best local newspaper around. We think we've done just that.

product has been implemented. New fonts, fresh new styles, and new features added to help readers enjoy the paper every week.

We would like to hear what you think about the improvements. Please feel free to email me at bschroeder@nwnews-group.com or our Executive Editor Larry Lough at lough@nwnews-group.com.

Another football player in the mix

Congratulations are in order for an old Carmel High School and Purdue friend of mine, Jeff Zgonina, who is currently enjoying the off-season from the Miami Dolphins in southern Florida. Jeff and his wife, Cammie, welcomed a boy last week, Carter Austin. Austin has sandy brown hair and weighed just over 6 pounds. Jeff said Carter has inherited his fathers "cankles."

More accolades go to Jeff as he was recently nominated to the East Suburban Catholic Conference Hall of Fame with some pretty good company. Jeff joins Isiah Thomas of St. Joseph and of Mike Alstott of Joliet Catholic as first time inductees.

Mud begins to fly between Salvi, McSweeney

The campaign between 8th District Republican Congressional candidates David McSweeney, of Barrington Township, and Kathy Salvi, of Fremont Township, continues to get nasty.

According to a Salvi press release, McSweeney "has unveiled his first negative attack...he printed up mail pieces and produced radio attack ads last week that...accuse Kathy Salvi of siding with Democrats."

"This is McSweeney's history," Jason Heffley, campaign manager for Salvi, said. "He viciously attacked Republican Phil Crane even when Phil Crane was in the hospital. Now he is attacking Kathy Salvi."

Those "attacks" came after McSweeney appeared on a radio show hosted by Al Salvi, Kathy Salvi's husband, on Feb. 21.

According to a McSweeney release, Al Salvi "tried to 'bagger' his guest during a live interview," and reportedly apologized later in the show after a series of callers complained.

"Our campaign asked the Salvi campaign to apologize for the personal attacks on David McSweeney," McSweeney campaign manager Jim Thacker said in a statement. "Instead, the attacks continue and, in fact, have reached new lows. Clearly, the Salvi campaign is spinning out of control. Kathy Salvi has issued 'no comments' in response to questions about this unfortunate chain of events and her campaign, incredibly, tries to say that their candidate's spouse has nothing to do with the campaign."

The GOP primary is March 21.

Salvi starts TV ads

Salvi has also launched her first TV ad in her bid to win the nomination.

"I am thankful for the outpouring of support from contributors which has allowed me to put my message on television," she said. "My message of lower taxes and less spending should resonate well with voters of the Eighth District who deserve to have more control over their economic future. With less than five weeks to go until the primary, my commercial adds to the momentum of my campaign. I look forward to riding that momentum through the Republican primary and on to victory in November against Melissa Bean."

Bean is the incumbent Congresswoman who defeated Phil Crane in 2004. She is running unopposed in the March 21 Democratic primary.

In addition to Salvi, other candidates in the GOP Primary are McSweeney, Robert Churchill, of Lake Villa, Ken Arnold, of Gurnee, Aaron Lincoln, of Wauconda, and James Mitchell of Lindenhurst.

Salvi is an attorney who lives in Mundelein with her husband Al and their six children. Her main issues are fighting taxes, controlling spending, traffic gridlock, the war on terror and upholding conservative values. The TV spots may be downloaded at www.kathysalvi2006.com.

Dist. 116 seeks $17 million

The first community meeting to discuss the proposition to issue $17,000,000 in school building bonds in Round Lake Area Schools District 116 occurred last week in the gym of the W.J. Murphy School. The school district is asking residents for approval to issue bonds in the amount of $17 million dollars which will fund an upgrade for several elementary schools, renovation of the Magee Middle School, and an addition to the Round Lake High School.

Dennis Stonewall, CEO of the Round Lake Schools made the case for the addition of bright and cheery classrooms, energy efficient roof top heating and cooling units, and for maintaining continued financial stewardship.

"Space is the biggest issue, and it is an issue for every school district that services the Round Lake Area" said Stonewall referring to the referendum for school improvements that face not only Round Lake's school district but also Antioch School District 34, Fremont School District 79, and Fox Lake Grade School District 114. Barrington, Lincolnshire, Winthrop Harbor, and McHenry school districts are also asking voters for money this March.

Village looks to purchase school property

Community High School District 128 board members decided to discuss the village of Libertyville's offer to purchase the Brainerd property in a closed session at a meeting on Monday night.

The board would rather offer the village a long-term building lease than sell the property because of a wish to keep the athletic fields. Board members were unsure of whether the property has been appraised recently or not, but believe the last appraisal was between $1.1 and $1.3 million.

Gridlocked

Several of the candidates in the upcoming primary claim traffic as one of their main concerns, and with good reason.

The Republican primary campaign for the 8th District Congressional seat (four of the six candidates pictured above) is starting to heat up.

Beginning this month, drivers in Lake County should expect delays that will last through the summer.

Four road construction projects will take place simultaneously at the following intersections: Stearns School and Hutchins Roads, Millburn and Hunt Club Roads, Millburn Road and Route 45, and the Wadsworth Bridge over I-94.

Work began in February near the intersection of Stearns School and Hutchins Roads. The Lake County Division of Transportation oversees this project and will supervise both projects along Millburn Road as well.

The Illinois State Toll Highway Authority closed the Wadsworth Bridge Wednesday, March 1.

The bridge will remain closed for six to eight months.

LCDOT expects that its three projects will finish by the end of the summer.

ISTHA has advised drivers to use the following detour during the closure of the bridge: Dilley's Road (County Route W-16) to Stearns School Road (County Route A-16) to Hunt Club Road (County Route W-15).

For information on lane closures, travel times, etc., call (800)-TOLL-FYI or go to www.illinoistollway.com.

Grace period voter registration begins

Any voter who missed registering to vote at their current address has a brief window of time to complete their responsibility in order to vote in the March 21 Primary election. Lake County Clerk Willard Helander announced that grace period registration for the March 21 General Primary Election is available only in the County Clerk's office at 18 N. County St., Waukegan during business hours from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Fridays.

Grace period registration permits a voter to register or update their address in the County Clerk's office through close of business on March 7. Those who register to vote during this period may ONLY vote by absentee ballot at the Clerk's office. New registrants must be 18 years old on or before the election in order to register and must provide two forms of ID upon registration.

Voter registration will re-open on March 23, two days after the General Primary Election in accordance with election law. For more information about grace period registration, call the County Clerk's office, Voter Registration Department, at 847-377-2410.

Student newspapers vital

Every high school needs a journalism class, and a free and responsible student newspaper.

That's because no other curricular or extracurricular offering delivers better opportunities for achieving the school mission and promoting partnership in education.

A good student newspaper disseminates the perspectives of our youth, functions as a catalyst for positive change, and serves the school community in countless other ways.

Decision-makers benefit from knowing student attitudes, and students benefit from partnership participation in working with educators, parents, taxpayers and others to confront educational challenges.

According to a nationwide study, more than one in five high schools offer no student media.

Of the high schools that do not offer student newspapers, 40 percent have eliminated student papers in the past five years. Of those, 68 percent now have no media.

Help to reverse this disturbing trend of eliminating student publications.

Call school. If your school does not have a student newspaper, help to create one. If it has one, help support and improve it.

No high school can achieve its full potential without the significant contributions that a journalism class and student newspaper offers to the community.

Leadership lacking

When you have an election in a village, you would think that after considering what candidates would be good for the village, then electing them that they would be running the village.

Not in Lakemoor.

We have people who do not live in the village telling us what we should accept as good for us. Why? They should just worry about the village they live in.

We also should, if we choose to, select a spokesperson to speak for the majority at the village meetings. People cannot appoint themselves to claim spokesmen status for the village. They should know that their feelings are just that, their feelings. You don't speak for me.

I think the elected officials in Lakemoor, all of the elected officials in Lakemoor, should be able to consider the destiny of our village.

Rufus not a pit bull

It is apparent by recent submissions that the Bull Terrier (winner of Best-in-Show at the Westminster Kennel Club Show) is being confused with the pit bull, a breed that has been front-page material lately. It is the pit bull that historically has been bred to be a fighter.

The bull terrier is a very human family-oriented dog.

Trust and the White House

By ESTHER CEPEDA
news@nwnewsgroup.com

You'll be hard-pressed to find anyone who doesn't agree that every stable relationship is built on trust. Vice President Cheney's fumbling of his late February hunting accident and the fury over the pending sale of shipping operations at six major U.S. seaports to a United Arab Emirates-based company is a case study in the erosion of trust.

It's really difficult to trust our leaders when we know the VP didn't even personally call President Bush regarding the unfortunate hunting accident until the next day, ratcheting up fears that the White House is too secretive—perhaps even within itself.

Even more frightening is that the White House didn't see the bipartisan firestorm over U.S. port security coming a mile away. They initially dealt with it by standing tall behind the sale and then immediately backed off saying President Bush didn't even know his administration had approved the transaction. Boy, that made every one feel better!

Math 101

We don't have to leave the confines of the great state of Illinois to feel our trust limping ever further away. Auditor General William Holland recently revealed Governor Blagojevich has been painting too rosy a picture of the number of jobs his administration has created since he took office.

Errors in math and lack of documentation to prove initial estimates in job gains show that forecasted numbers of jobs created through grant programs were counted as though they were actual new jobs, already employed people undergoing training with grant money were counted as newly employed, and there are a slew of failures in following mandates set by the Legislature.

Are we supposed to accept G-Rod at his word when he says he promises to continue "Getting Things Done for People?" Things. Let's just see what other "things" drop out of the bottom of Blagojevich's blighted campaign in the next few months.

Friends and foes

But let's not stray too far from home; right here in Lake County, things are shaky. I'm pretty sure the Grand Dame of Lake County politics, Dist. 31 State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, is feeling the sting of misplaced trust these days as she watches people whose careers she's boosted sharpen the knives before using them to stab her in the back.

Never mind the adage about a society's values being reflected by how it treats its very young and very old, what about the one about not biting the hand that feeds you?

About 6,000 are trained to be election judges

•EARLY VOTING

"Some people seem to want to get it (voting) out of the way or try something new," Smith said.

Helander said with early voting, there is already a need for election judges.

"It's always tough in spring to get judges," she said. "Sometimes snowbirds don't come home as soon as we need them."

Wauconda Township is one area that is looking at a shortage of election judges in the spring.

Helander said there are approximately 6,000 residents trained to be judges and only 2,200 so far are willing to work.

Registered voters may access the Lake County Clerk's website at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyckl to find their early voting location, see a picture of the building and even find out if they're registered to vote.

Federal grant funds 11 stormwater projects

Over $1 million through three Congressional appropriations will be used by the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) for 11 projects to improve water quality and stormwater infrastructure.

Lake County's delegation in Congress was instrumental in garnering the federal funds through the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's State and Tribal Assistance Grant (STAG) program. SMC will be working with local units of government and other groups to assist in project implementation and oversight.

The projects are part of an ongoing list of needs to preserve and protect the natural drainage system. The $1,010,900 will be used to fund the design and/or installation of best management practices (BMPs) and other water quality improvement projects in Lake County.

Two of the appropriations are targeted for projects within the Des Plaines River Watershed, while one is open for projects throughout the county. SMC received proposals last September and 11 projects were recommended for funding.

The approved project applicants will receive up to 55 percent federal cost share and are required to contribute a minimum of 45 percent of their total project cost. Total project cost for all 11 projects is $2,192,646. The remaining $209,800 in unallocated funds will go toward projects selected through a second request for proposals this spring. The grant and cost-share partners leveraged $1 in STAG grant monies for every $1.75 in local cost-share monies.

Approved projects include:

- Village of Vernon Hill's Seavey Ditch Dam Removal and Channel Stabilization: $255,000, total project cost $475,500

- Mundelein Park District and Village of Mundelein's Cambridge Country Park Detention Basin Shoreline Restoration: $41,681.50, total project cost $83,363

- Village of Buffalo Grove's Buffalo Creek Streambank Stabilization: $35,200, total project cost: $64,000

- Bangs Lake Homeowner Associations' Rain Gardens: $4,150; total project cost: $12,450

- Countryside Lake Association (Mundelein) Lagoon/Peninsula Restoration: $50,000; total project cost: $181,375

- LCFPD's Ryerson Woods Hydrological and Ecological Restoration: $100,000 grant; total project cost $300,000

- Lake County Forest Preserve District's (LCFPD) Nippersink Lake Shoreline Stabilization: $100,000 grant; total project cost $600,000

- Village of Lincolnshire's Spring Lake/Des Plaines River Inlet Repair: $79,999 grant; total project cost $199,998

- Park District of Highland Park's Wetland Restoration Planning for Skokie River Woods: $10,000 grant; total project cost $22,000

- Village of Round Lake Park's Renovation of Lagoon at Whipple O'Parrot Park: $90,110 grant; total project cost $203,960

- In-Stream BMP's and Native Vegetation Installation in Bull Creek: $25,000 grant; total project cost $50,000.

Agency accepts island

By JEFF GARD
jgard@nwnewsgroup.com

A recent island donation could provide the Fox Waterway Agency with a place to drop several million yards of dredging materials from Nippersink Creek and governor's channel.

The agency board of directors voted 6-0 to accept a 3- to 7-acre island from Mike Trinski. The island is located south of the Route 12 bridge southeast of where Nippersink Creek meets Pistakee Lake.

Chairman Howard "Bud" Scott said the donation is worth more than $1 million to the agency.

"It gives us the ability to have sites where we can restore the natural area that was there," Scott said, "and use material from the lake bottom that is causing us problems."

Scott said parts of the island are under water and the agency might be able to extend its size to between 10 and 15 acres.

Before the agency can restore the island, it must secure permits from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Illinois Department of Natural Resources. Scott said the agency is exploring other land donations, but he could not say where they were located.

Burn turns into 6-acre fire

By TOM MUSICK
tmusick@nwnewsgroup.com

A Spring Grove resident's controlled burn Saturday afternoon grew to a 60-acre brush fire that briefly threatened houses and lifted dark plumes of smoke that could be seen for miles, fire officials said.

Sixteen fire departments responded to the blaze, which started about 1:40 p.m. in a field behind Windsor Drive and burned for more than two hours. Firefighters lined the perimeter of the field with hoses as teams entered the brush to extinguish the line of waist-high flames that swept east to west.

"It was fed by the wind," Spring Grove Fire Chief Rich Tobiasz said. "Rather than send a lot of guys out there to get hurt, we sort of let it come to us a little bit."

No one was injured in the fire, which burned land belonging to the McHenry County Conservation District.

Tobiasz said the man who was burning grass and leaves could be cited. Open burning was prohibited until April.

As firefighters combed the field, neighborhood resident Mitch McGowan snapped pictures of the flames from his wooden deck.

School official charged with felony shoplifting

North Chicago's recently hired school superintendent says she will fight a criminal charge that she tried to steal $445 in groceries from a Wal-Mart store in Springfield last summer.

Authorities have filed a charge of felony shoplifting against Sandra Ellis, superintendent of District 187, according to Jennifer Kuntz, a Sangamon County assistant state's attorney. The penalty ranges from probation to as much as five years in prison.

Ellis, who was scheduled to appear this week in Sangamon County Circuit Court, denied guilt and blamed her July 17 arrest on an inexperienced Wal-Mart clerk.

1976 30 YEARS AGO

Antioch officials were studying three garbage disposals bids, with the winning one set to become a service provided by the village and paid by tax money. Before this, residents had been required to pay $4.50 a month for garbage disposal.

The public works committee was set to meet on March 8 to discuss the three bids that were opened.

Trustees hoped that the cost of the garbage disposal service could be added to the tax roll.

1986 20 YEARS AGO

The Antioch High School boy's basketball team advanced to the Rockford Sectional by defeating Round Lake High School 62-57 in the regional final in overtime on Feb. 28.

Senior Don Gunther led the Sequoits in scoring with 21 points, while Dave Grindley had 16. The only other player in double figures for Antioch was Mike McGrain, with 12. McGrain played a steady game, as did reserve Rick Reitmayer.

For Round Lake, the leading scorer was Frank Ptak with 31 points.

1991 15 YEARS AGO

Warren Township High School was preparing to be off of the state's "financial watch list," by the end of the year.

Treasurer Ron Meyer updated the board of education on the matter at a meeting, saying the district could "technically" be off the watch list in October.

Meyer explained the district's sale of $3 million in working cash fund bonds made the difference in the watch list.

Women's History Month events

During March, the College of Lake County will celebrate Women's History Month with a variety of events that explore "The Many Hats That Women Wear." The events include the following:

- The Art of Flamenco Dance Open Community Workshop/Demonstration will be held in the Experimental Theater (P103) on Monday, March 6 and Monday, April 10 from 7-8:30 p.m.

Come and experience the rich cultural expressions of the Spanish art of Flamenco through traditional music and dance. Workshops are taught by Wendy Clinard, director of Clinard Dance Theatre in Chicago, along with live musical accompaniment.

- God Sleeps in Rwanda: Film and Discussion from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday in room C002B. The 1994 Rwandan genocide left the country nearly 70 percent female. CLC philosophy instructor Jacqueline Trimier will show and discuss "God Sleeps in Rwanda," a documentary film that explores how the genocide affected the lives of the women and girls who survived the horrific tragedy. Bring your own lunch.

- Harriet Tubman: A Performance will be held from noon to 1 p.m. on Wednesday in the C Wing Auditorium (C005). Pamela Welcome performs the trials of the most phenomenal and renowned leader of the Underground Railroad. She describes life as a slave and how some foods and customs still carry on today. Cookies and beverages will be served after the performance.

- Pills, Profits, Sex and Science: Gender Studies in the Biomedical Age will look at the biomedical revolution of the last 20 years on March 9 from 7 to 9 p.m. in room C002. Carol Tavris, co-author of "Psychology," a college textbook used at CLC and various colleges and universities nationwide, will tell the story of the invention of "female sexual dysfunction" and its treatments – a cautionary tale for our times. The cosponsor is Prentice Hall Publishing Company, and dinner will be served at no cost.

- Nnenna Freelon, a six-time Grammy-nominated jazz vocalist, will perform a concert at 8 p.m. March 10 at the Mainstage Theatre in the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts. Tickets are $32 for the general public, $30 for CLC students, seniors 65-plus and $20 for children under 12. Tickets at 847-543-2300 or at www.clcillinois.edu/tickets.

- International Women's Panel will be held from noon to 1 p.m. March 13 in room C002. In honor of International Women's Day, a panel of CLC staff and students will share their stories about life in their home countries, as well as their transitions into American culture. Bring your own lunch.

- Human Trafficking will be discussed from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. on March 16 in room C003. Dr. Cathy Colton, instructor of English and member of Amnesty International, will speak about the atrocities of this sexual slavery, showing clips from an ABC mini-series that aired last fall. Bring your own lunch. Cookies and beverages will be served.

- Breast cancer at age 25? A personal message from a CLC survivor will be held from noon to 1 p.m. on Wednesday, March 22; room to be announced. Jean Hayes will tell her still-evolving personal story. Bring your own lunch. Cookies and beverages will be served.

- Women's History Month events are sponsored by the CLC Chapter of the American Association for Women in Community Colleges and the CLC Women's Center. For more information, call the Women's Center at 847-543-2771.

Congressional, senate hopefuls field questions

By ESTHER CEPEDA

news@nwnewsgroup.com

The full house at the Byron Colby Barn in Grayslake's Prairie Crossing subdivision last week provided the platform for Adeline Geo-Karis and Suzanne Simpson, contenders for the 31st Senate District, and Sandy Cole and Barbara Oilshlager, candidates for the 62nd House Representative District to answer questions.

The candidate forum was hosted by the American Association of University Women and the League of Women Voters of Lake County and was moderated by Edith Auchter.

The audience submitted questions on topics ranging from school funding, to health-care, environmental issues, and ethics reform and all four candidates were given time to respond to each question.

The rounds started off with the issue of school funding. All the candidates agreed that new ideas are necessary to fix the funding gaps in the current system. Barbara Oilshlager, a College of Lake County Board member took the opportunity to back 8th Congressional District candidate Bob Churchill's plan to devote 65 percent of every dollar spent on classroom instruction for children and only 35 percent spent on administrative costs.

Lake County Board member Sandy Cole suggested "looking into additional funding sources and a property tax decrease. We should let the voters decide on a sales tax increase."

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis spoke out against raiding pension funds to finance schools. Warren Township Supervisor Suzanne Simpson said "We need radical ideas. I'm against anything that takes our Lake County dollars downstate."

Cole stated she was not opposed to reinstituting the death penalty but had to do more research on the provision of the penalty. Oilshlager said the philosophical question, "Do we have faith in the process?" was the more important focus. "If we don't then we need to either fix the process or fixing our philosophy on whether we should keep or abolish the death penalty," said Oilshlager.

The ethics crisis was a hot topic, and all the candidates were in agreement that the public is the driving force behind the movement for more transparency in government. Geo-Karis and Cole felt strongly reform would eventually move throughout the channels of government. Oilshlager stated, "Not too many people have confidence in politicians." She pointed out that there are many worthwhile rules which cover ethics issues on the books but the key is in enforcing them.

Simpson clearly stated her concern over the ethics crisis by adding, "It's unfortunate that my senator was the only one who voted against the ethics ordinance when it came before the general assembly."

In her closing remarks, Adeline Geo-Karis took the opportunity to clear the air about her "no" vote: "The reason I was the one vote against the so-called ethics amendment is because it did not have full disclosure," said Geo-Karis. "I want complete disclosure for all funds. Complete disclosure, not just certain ones. If you'll check that amendment it does not have complete disclosure and that was why I voted against it."

The rest of the candidates used their final minutes to address the balance of their responsibilities to their constituents. Suzanne Simpson said she would step down from her Warren Township Supervisor position, and Sandy Cole said she would give up her seat on the County Board.

Barbara Oilshlager took the opportunity to clear the air about her seat on the College of Lake County Board. "It's a non-paying position, we meet for about 2 hours once a month- it's volunteer work. I don't think we should be expected to discontinue all of our volunteer work if we're elected to the legislature."

LAKE COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT/ COMMUNITY HEALTH CENTER

Health Department Offers Free Breast and Cervical Cancer Screening

Free breast and cervical cancer screenings are offered to eligible Lake County women through the Illinois Breast and Cervical Cancer Program (IBCCP), located at the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center. Through the program, women can receive, at no cost to them, a complete medical examination, a clinical breast exam and a pap test, as well as referral for a free mammogram at a local hospital.

Examinations are done at the clinics of the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center, also through private providers, and are by appointment.

To find out if you are eligible, please call the Health Department at 847-377-8430.

Four new mom must-haves

Pregnancy and childbearing can seem exhausting enough for a new mom - but those first few months with a newborn at home can bring new meaning to the words sleep-deprived. This particular issue can cause more stress than any other part of being a new parent.

"Being a new mom is one of the most physically draining experiences in a lifetime," says Dr. Blake Ofobike, an ob-gyn in San Antonio, Texas. "Having the best products at your disposal can save your energy and increase your comfort when you need it most."

Ofobike recommends the following four must-haves for new moms:

1. Nursing Pillow. Nursing pillows are typically u-shaped soft pillows that not only provide a gentle resting place for babies, but also an ergonomically correct back-support for moms. There are several popular brands on the market. However, Ofobike encourages that new moms do their research to assure their nursing pillow is safe and comfortable for both baby and mom.

2. Gripe Water. Gripe water is an old-world formula used successfully for centuries to bring relief to colicky and teething babies - and their parents. Typically comprised of a blend of herbs known to soothe stomach pains, gripe water is gentle and effective - if the right brand is used. Ofobike recommends a gripe water that contains no alcohol, chemical preservatives, harsh additives, artificial colors/flavors or Petroleum-based products. Wellements' Gripe Water is one of the very few on the market that meets these standards.

"Having a colicky baby can be very stressful, frustrating and challenging for any parent, particularly if it is the first child," Ofobike says. "It's important for parents or caregivers to have a break from this stress. Wellements' Gripe Water gives parents a safe choice for relieving their child's digestive ailments, lessening crying and encouraging sleep."

3. Bedtime Music. A great relaxant for both mom and baby, playing a CD containing soothing music can aid in more sound sleep. If played regularly, your baby may even associate these sounds with sleep - enabling him or her to fall asleep faster.

There are several options available today and many of them are equally as effective. What is most important is that the music or sounds are soft, soothing and run for at least 45 minutes.

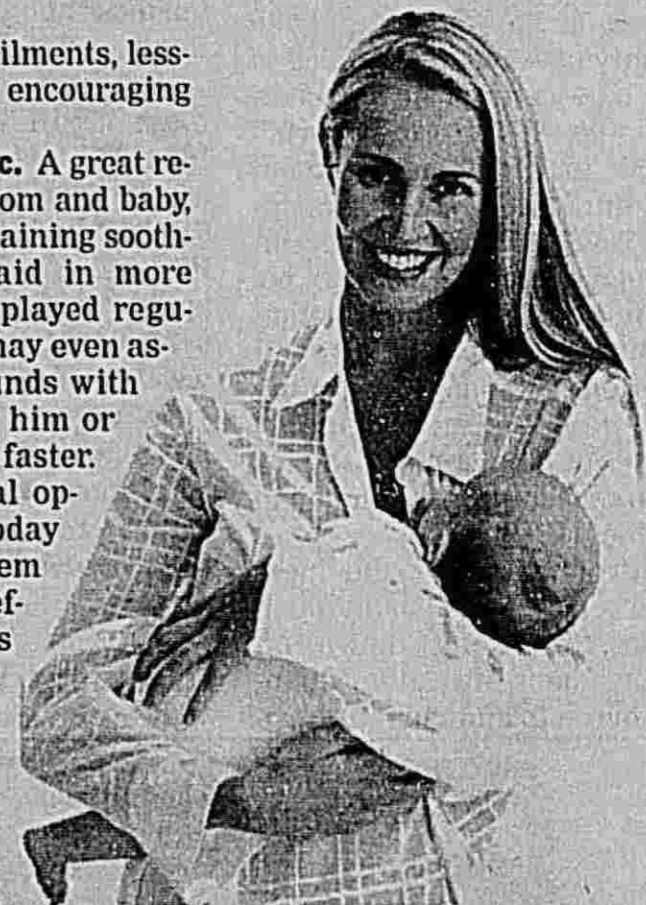

4. White Noise. While some babies can sleep through barking dogs, doorbells and telephones ringing, there are others that are more restless sleepers. Create white noise in the room that will drown out other distractions. Fans, humidifiers and actual white noise machines can all be effective devices. What is most important is that they are able to run throughout the night without a shut-off mechanism.

"If your baby isn't sleeping, chances are you aren't either," says Ofobike.

"Investing in quality products to soothe and comfort your baby will pay off for both of you."

The week after Sarah was diagnosed, she finished a marathon. Then the real race began.

Sarah Cooper, breast cancer survivor

Even after she was diagnosed, Sarah continued, finishing a marathon the very next week. So when her hometown doctor told her she would have to wait three weeks to begin treatment, she wasn't content to lose precious time.

"I came to CTCA for a second opinion, and I got right in," she said. "When I arrived I was lost, bewildered. But the staff and the other patients helped me find my way. I left with an overwhelming feeling of, 'okay, we can take care of this.'"

She did take care of it, crossing the finish line with a victory over breast cancer. Call CTCA today for information about winning your race.

No case is typical. You should not expect to experience these results.

Keep kids safe from hazards at home

Letting children discover things on their own is part of letting them grow up. As much as many parents might love to keep their children young and dependent forever, there does come a time when your child will start running all over the house and discovering things on his own. It's times like these that require parents to be extra careful, as what might seem like a common household product to parents can look like a bottle of milk or something to eat to a toddler.

Personal Care

Unfortunately, many things around the typical home can be poisonous to children if ingested. All personal-care products should be kept out of the reach of children. Soaps (bar or liquid), mouthwash, toothpaste and deodorants are just a few of the many personal-care products that can prove harmful to children.

If your children see you use particular products, make sure you put those products in a place where they cannot be reached. Oftentimes, children like to mimic what their parents do. This can be dangerous, though, should your child decide to mimic you rinsing out your mouth with mouthwash (children might not know to spit it out) or spraying yourself with deodorant or hairspray (which can easily find its way into a child's eyes). Swallowing toothpaste can also prove very harmful to children because high levels of fluoride are toxic, so make sure you don't leave the tube lying out on the sink counter.

Two business courses added to spring schedule

Two popular business classes at the College of Lake County have just been added to the late-starting spring class schedule. Both are "hybrid" classes that combine classroom and Internet work. Business Law I (BUS 221-600) will meet on Mondays from 1 to 3:45 p.m. beginning March 13. Introduction to Business (BUS 121-603) will meet on Thursdays beginning 12:25 to 3:10 p.m. beginning March 16. The prerequisite for Business Law is Introduction to Business (BUS 121).

Introduction to Business covers large and small businesses, including topics on management, investing, financial markets and current business news. Business Law is an introduction to the principles of American law governing business and personal transactions.

For more information on these credit courses, contact Litsa Press, business management program coordinator, at 847-543-2921 or litsapress@clcillinois.edu. To apply for admission, please call 847-543-2061 or log on to www.clcillinois.edu/applic.htm. To register for classes by phone (after completing CLC's admission process), call 847-223-1111. To register online, log on to www.clcillinois.edu/self-serv.htm.

Educational Variety

A new season of learning blooms in mid-March as the College of Lake County's Discovery! program begins a new series of classes on such topics such as Chinese writing, Islam and digital photography. Classes will be held at CLC's Southlake Educational Center, 1120 S. Milwaukee Ave., Vernon Hills.

"Chinese Character Writing" will cover the real meaning and art conveyed by Chinese written characters. The instructors are Dr. Xiaoming Zhai, CLC faculty member, and Luqing Zhao.

The class will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, March 15. The fee is $14.

"Basic Teachings of Islam" will be taught by Dr. Assad Busool, CLC social science instructor. The class will meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday, March 14. The fee is $14.

"Women in Islamic Cultures - Women are the Twin Halves of Men" will also be taught by Dr. Busool.

This course will cover what Islamic teachings say about women and their place in Islamic cultures. It will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on March 21. The fee is $14.

"Introduction to Storing and Printing Digital Images" will focus on organizing your digital photos using widely available digital software including Photoshop Elements 3.0. The instructor is Bernard Levine. This class will meet five times on Thursdays from 9:30-11:30 a.m. from March 16 to April 27. The fee is $59.

"Introduction to Investing" will give you the basic foundations of investing information, such as how to invest in individual stocks, stock mutual funds, individual bonds, bond mutual funds, certificates of deposit and money market funds. The instructor is Michael Goldman, MBA.

This class meets from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on March 16 and 23. The cost is $19.

"Researching Stock" will show you information resources and help the beginner formulate questions that should be answered before making investment decisions. The class will meet from 9:30 to 11 a.m. on March 30 and April 6. The instructor is Michael Goldman, MBA, and the fee is $19.

"Travelogue to Three Great Cities in Africa" will take you on a voyage with Linda Rubin to three great cities on her native continent - Cairo, Nairobi, and Capetown.

This slide show presentation and discussion will meet from 9:30-11:30 a.m. on March 28. The fee is $14.

Discovery! is a program for adults 50 years of age and older who are still curious and active learners. Day trips, lectures and short-term classes are offered at several Lake County locations.

To find out how to register or to request the spring Discovery! brochure, call the Discovery! Hotline at (847) 543-6507.

ROUND LAKE - Walter Alvin Uhwat, age 86, of Round Lake, passed away Tuesday, Feb. 21, 2006 at Lakeview Specialty Hospital in Waterford, Wis.

He was born Jan. 30, 1920 in Chicago to Walter and Bernice (nee Mlodzioniewski) Uhwat. On June 29, 1946 he married Opal who preceded him in death on June 2, 1979.

Formerly of Chicago, Walter moved to Round Lake in 1949. He was employed as an engineer with Illinois Bell/Western Electric Company from 1940 until 1982. During his employment with Illinois Bell/Western Electric, his career was interrupted to enlist in the Army Air Corp. During WWII he was assigned to be a gunnery instructor. After the war was over he returned to Illinois Bell to be an engineer. In 1982 he was the founder of Triad Circuits, Inc. of Round Lake. The company is now currently run by his daughter. In 1968 he took an active roll in real estate and in investment management services. He was a former resident and Board Member of the Lake Region Sanitary District and served for 22 years. He was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church where he was an usher and lector.

Survivors include his sweetheart, LaVeme Ray of Mundelein; two sons, Scott Uhwat of Round Lake, Garth (Bonnie) Uhwat of Ingleside; a daughter, Shawn (John) Bixler of Burlington, Wis.; a sister, Lola Uhwat of Mundelein; nephew, Richard (Barbara) Uchwat of Chicago; nine grandchildren, Leslie (Troy) Smith, Scott Daniel Uhwat, Garth Michael (Jamie) Uhwat, Bridget Uhwat, Michael (Brenda) Knipp, Craig (Carrie) Knipp, Christopher (Emily Dega) Knipp, Mark Bixler, Daniel Bixler; six great grandchildren, Michael, Kayla, Michelle, Alexis, Nina, Madison; nieces and nephews, brother Thomas Iwicki, C.R., Robert (Donna) Iwicki, Mark (Karen) Iwicki, Marilyn (Dennis) Rogalski, Robert D. (Susan) Uhwat, and Gail Karie-Fenton.

He was preceded in death by his wife Opal; his parents; an uncle, Leon Uchwat; sister and brother-in-law, Adeline "Dolly" (Edwin) Iwicki; brother and sister-in-law, Robert (Urcella) Uhwat; a niece, Elaine DiPietro and a nephew, Greg Fulkerson.

The visitation was from 5 until 9 p.m. on Feb. 23, at Justen's Round Lake Funeral Home.

The funeral Mass was celebrated at 10 a.m. on Feb. 24, at St. Joseph Catholic Church, in Round Lake.

Interment was in Ascension Cemetery, Grayslake.

LUISE M. ANDERSON
(nee SPITZNER)

Died: Feb. 20, 2006 in Lindenhurst
Postmaster of local post office

LINDENHURST - Luise M. Anderson (nee Spitzner), a resident of Lindenhurst, for the past six years and a resident of Max, Minn. for over 50 years, died Monday, Feb. 20, 2006 at home. She was born in Chicago, to Albert and Rose (nee Fritz) Spitzner. Luise was married to Bernard Anderson for over 50 years at the time of his death in 1999. She and her husband co-owned and operated "Max Mercantile" and was also the Postmaster of the local post office which was located in their store. Luise received her commission as Postmaster from President Harry Truman. Max Mercantile included a sawmill and a processing plant which processed wild rice in an old fashioned wood parching process and was then distributed throughout the country. Luise was a longtime member of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary in Minnesota; was an accomplished pianist and enjoyed traveling, especially cruises to Panama Canal, Alaska, and northern European countries.

Many cousins survive, including, Polly (Bob) Schmarje of Ingleside and family; Nancy Brothers of Ingleside and family, and Rolla Heinen of Lincolnshire and family; along with many loving friends. She is preceded in death by her parents.

A Memorial service will be celebrated at 11 a.m., March 11 at the Chapel at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, 1055 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst. Arrangements were completed by K. K. Hamsher Funeral Home, in Fox Lake. In lieu of flowers memorials for the Lighthouse for the Blind, 4505 W. Superior St., Duluth, MN 55807 will be appreciated. For further information call 847-587-2100.

Contenders for 8th District vie for top position

By ESTHER CEPEDA
news@nwnewsgroup.com

Republican 8th Congressional District candidates Ken Arnold, Robert Churchill, Aaron Lincoln, David McSweeney, and James Mitchell went head to head on the issues at the League of Women Voters of Lake County and American Association of University Women's candidate forum in Grayslake.

The candidates made the case for why they stand head and shoulders above their fellow contenders during their opening remarks.

Jim Mitchell billed himself as a community servant who, like voters, is "fed up with corruption, weak immigration policies and weak answers for domestic security."

Ken Arnold described himself as a person of substance and fresh, innovative ideas. He enjoys it when people hear his thoughts on myriad topics and say "Wow, I never thought of that before."

Aaron Lincoln called on voters to select him in order to make a difference in the political process. "Choose me as someone who you can be proud of, not just the lesser of two evils."

David McSweeney focused on his goals. "I will lower taxes for businesses and individuals, focus on creating new jobs, making President Bush's tax cuts permanent and reducing the deficit."

Robert Churchill touted his experience in Springfield and his in-depth knowledge of the "thoughts and needs of the people."

In a dramatic show of Republican solidarity, Teresa Bartels, one-time 8th Congressional district candidate who recently bowed out of the race due to campaign fund considerations, was present to give an opening statement on behalf of Kathy Salvi. "Kathy is a mother, a business owner and someone who understands the issues that face families today," said Bartels. "We believe Kathy Sal-vi has the best opportunity to face Melissa Bean in the November election and bring this district back to the Republican Party."

Taking cues from recent newspaper headlines, one of the most heated questions was on the issue of port security outsourcing. All the candidates agreed that it was a sensitive issue that needed to be further investigated. Churchill said while there is a need to be sensitive to the Arab community, the United States should be in charge of its own security. Aaron Lincoln took a more global view saying that if the United States expects to do run businesses in other countries it has to be open to letting others do the same here.

When the issue of lobbying came up, all candidates disclosed that none of them have lobbyists working on their campaign.

Regarding the ethics scandals that have rocked the Republican Party in the last months each candidate had ideas of how to remedy the situation. Bob Churchill suggested that fundraising should cease in Washington, D.C., and candidates should be expected to raise funds in their home districts alleviating earmark expectations.

Jim Mitchell and Aaron Lincoln, who lag behind the other candidates in campaign cash pointed to their grassroots movements as visible proof of their integrity. "We need somebody who is not necessarily a millionaire but somebody with the wherewithal to run for office and effectively reach many people across the district," said Aaron Lincoln.

Jim Mitchell added, "I'm running my own campaign. Part of it is a personal statement to say I don't need money to run a successful campaign."

The winner of the Republican nomination will run for the 8th Congressional seat against freshman Democratic Representative Melissa Bean in the November election.

★ Cheerleader Nation

Capturing the Highs and Lows of a National Championship Squad

Cheerleader Nation, a real-life drama on Lifetime Television premiering Sunday, March 12, at 10 p.m., reveals that there's much more to being a high school cheerleader than just high kicks and good times. "Filled with all the humor and heartbreak of adolescence, this series brings us into the lives of these competitive adolescent girls as they and their mothers struggle, together, to balance the difficult demands of high school," says Susanne Daniels, Lifetime's president of entertainment. "Cheerleader Nation is as much about parenting as about cheerleading."

Meet One of the Cheerleading Families

Lana and Eric Everhart are parents of 16-year-old cheerleader, Ayrica, who also is one of the top students at her school. Both parents work and share the parenting responsibilities, which include caring for three other daughters, ages 7, 5, and 17 months. Since Lana often works long hours, she relies on her husband to be the "cheer mom". "He is this big masculine guy who is odd to see at cheerleading events," she says. "It's about his relationship with the team and stepping up to the plate."

"It gets into boyfriends and personal things because (the girls) are so close and they know everything about each other," says Lana, describing the gamut of emotions through which she counsels her daughter. "Sometimes I ride the ups and downs with her," Everhart says. "Other times I'll say, 'No Ayrica, I am not riding the roller coaster with you today.' They don't know, like we do, that this too shall pass and they can be very emotional about things."

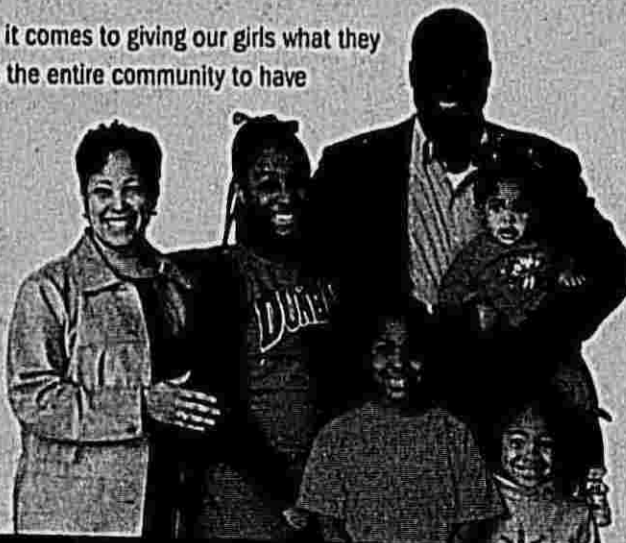

Pulling For The Team

"All of the families are so diverse and different—different backgrounds, different ways that we raise our children, everything," Everhart says. "But somehow the girls all come together and yell and make the national championship team. To me, it is what makes it such a unique show."

"Even with the parents, a lot of us don't have much in common, but when it comes to giving our girls what they need, we all pull together. It takes more than just them practicing. It takes the entire community to have a national cheering squad."

Q Where is Richard Chamberlain these days? I haven't seen him in a movie or mini-series since The Thorn Birds back in the 1980s.

—Patricia Rains, Conway, Ark.

Chamberlain reprised his priestly role as Father Ralph de Braccasart in The Thorn Birds: The Missing Years (1996), and appeared in another mini-series, Too Rich: The Secret Life of Doris Duke, in 1999. In 2003, at 69, he published his autobiography, Shattered Love. Last year, he was on tour with Scrooge: The Musical, a stage adaptation of the holiday classic. "Scrooge really finds his heart in his exploration," Chamberlain told an interviewer, "which is what life is all about."

Chamberlain in the '60s

Q Other than My Name is Earl, what else has actor Jason Lee been in?

—P. Brothers, Bowling Green, Ky.

Mostly movies. Born in Huntington Beach, Calif., Lee was a professional skateboarder until deciding to pursue acting. His big break came in 1995 with the lead role in the movie Mallrats, after which he starred in Chasing Amy, for which he won an independent-film Spirit Award for best supporting male actor. That was Lee as the lead singer of the fictitious band Stillwater in Almost Famous, and as Tom Cruise's best friend in Vanilla Sky. He played the demonic Azrael in the comedy Dogma, and has a cameo in the upcoming The Passion of the Clerks, and a voiced role in the animated comedy Monster House, due for release this summer.

Jason Lee went from movies to TV.

Q What can you tell me about CNN's morning anchor Robin Meade? Who is her husband and does she have children?

—Virginia K., Crystal Lake, Ill.

Lead anchor of CNN's news morning show Robin & Company, Meade, 36, was born in New London, Ohio, where childhood friends recall her playing broadcaster on a small tape recorder as a youngster. She honed her skills at local TV stations in Ohio, Illinois and Florida before settling in Atlanta for CNN. She has no children but notes that her husband, Tim, has tolerated her unconventional schedule for 12 years—in bed by 6 p.m., at work by 3 a.m. She enjoys interior decorating (she's even sewn some of her own window treatments) and singing. Many viewers ask about her distinctive laugh. "It's real," she says. "Something this loud and different couldn't be fake!"

Former "Animal" Eric Burdon is preparing for a world tour.

Q Is singer Eric Burdon still performing or writing songs?

—Fran Sanders, Kalispell, Mont.

Yes, Rock and Roll Hall of Fame member Burdon—lead singer of the 1960s British pop group The Animals ("House of the Rising Sun," "We Gotta Get Out of This Place," "Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood") and later the '70s funk powerhouse band War ("Spill the Wine," "The Cisco Kid," "Why Can't We Be Friends")—remains very active in music. He recently released a blues album, Soul of a Man, and is rehearsing for an upcoming world tour. Burdon, 67, loves the freedom of his life now, as opposed to the '60s. "I didn't quite like that period," he confesses. "All of the freedom I had experienced earlier was taken away from me when I ended up in a commercial product known as The Animals. We were told by management, 'You can't do this, you can't do that.' Now I have control over what I do."

Entertainment Tejano's Little Miss Dynamite

Shelly Lares was only 10 when her voice started opening doors. It was 1982, and her older sister, Laura, had hired a band for her wedding reception.

"She knew I wanted to be a singer," Lares recalls. "So she asked the band if I could perform a song with them." The band was so impressed that they invited Lares to become their lead singer. The following weekend, with her parents' permission, the youngster began singing with the band on weekends at weddings, festivals and other events.

"To be honest, we thought this was something she'd outgrow," says her mother and manager, Irene, 66.

Instead, Lares, now 34, has become an international superstar of Tejano music, recording 13 solo albums and winning eight Tejano Music Awards trophies. Tejano means "Texan" in Spanish, and the musical genre reflects the mix of cultures in the area of south Texas near the state's border with Mexico. Originally a hybrid of Mexican folk and the popular Big Band swing of post-World War II, Tejano now encompasses a broad, eclectic swath of influences from country to rock 'n' roll and hip-hop. "I know what I want my sound to be, and I know what the fans expect of me," says Lares, who tours primarily throughout Texas on weekends. "To the fans, the most important thing is that you're true to yourself musically."

Lares, who is single and lives in San Antonio, is Tejano's reigning female entertainer and female vocalist, a double-category victory she also won in 2002 and 2004. When the 2006 Tejano Music Awards are presented March 18 in Eagle Pass, Texas, Lares will vie for three more trophies: female entertainer, female vocalist and album of the year.

"One word can describe Shelly: dynamite," says Robert Arellano, chairman of the Texas Talent Musicians Association. "She comes onstage with lots of energy and charisma."

When Lares emerged in the late 1980s, Tejano music was dominated by all-male bands. Only a few female singers were making waves at the time, including Laura Canales, sometimes known as "Tejano's Barbra Streisand," and Selena, the 23-year-old rising star whose career was tragically cut short in 1995 when she was shot and killed by her former fan club president.

Selena's death brought national attention to Tejano music, and mainstream radio stations and their audiences found the genre's diverse blend had appeal well beyond Texas.

"Tejano music has definitely been expanding," says Lares, who, like many Tejano artists, sings in both Spanish and English. "Tejano artists are recording more in English and starting to get more airplay, especially on country radio stations in Texas." She teamed last year with two of the format's other top female stars, Elida Reyna and Stefani Montiel, to form the group Las 3 Divas, which entertained U.S. military troops on a tour of Guam, Korea and Japan. The trio also recorded an album that was nominated for a Grammy. Lares was such a hit on the tour that she was invited to return solo later this year.

Despite Tejano's growing national profile and her own success, Lares is down to earth and uses her talents to help others. She does charity work with youth organizations, and last year volunteered as a substitute teacher upon learning that local schools were in need.

Irene says her daughter is a superstar in the making who always remembers the hard work and support from fans and family that got her there. "Her dad told her early on, 'It takes everybody to get you where you are—it's not just about you,'" her mother recalls. "She's never forgotten that." ★

Sugarin' Time

When geese start honking their way north and brooks burst out of their icy prisons, Burr Morse can be found stoking the wood fire in his "sugarhouse" in Montpelier, Vt. (pop. 8,035), and boiling maple tree sap into gallons of sweet amber syrup.

"On a good day we make about 60 gallons," says Morse, 58, the seventh generation of his family to practice the spring ritual. "One time we made 90, and that was working just about 'round the clock."

For Morse, making maple syrup is equal parts hard work and spring celebration.

It's also a time-honored, family tradition.

Morse can trace his family's sugar-making legacy to James Morse, who settled near the present-day town of Cabot, Vt., in the late 1700s. More recently, Harry Morse, who spent more than 70 seasons in the sugarhouse before dying in 1999, was the family's sixth generation to pass on the lore, love and technical aspects of making maple syrup.

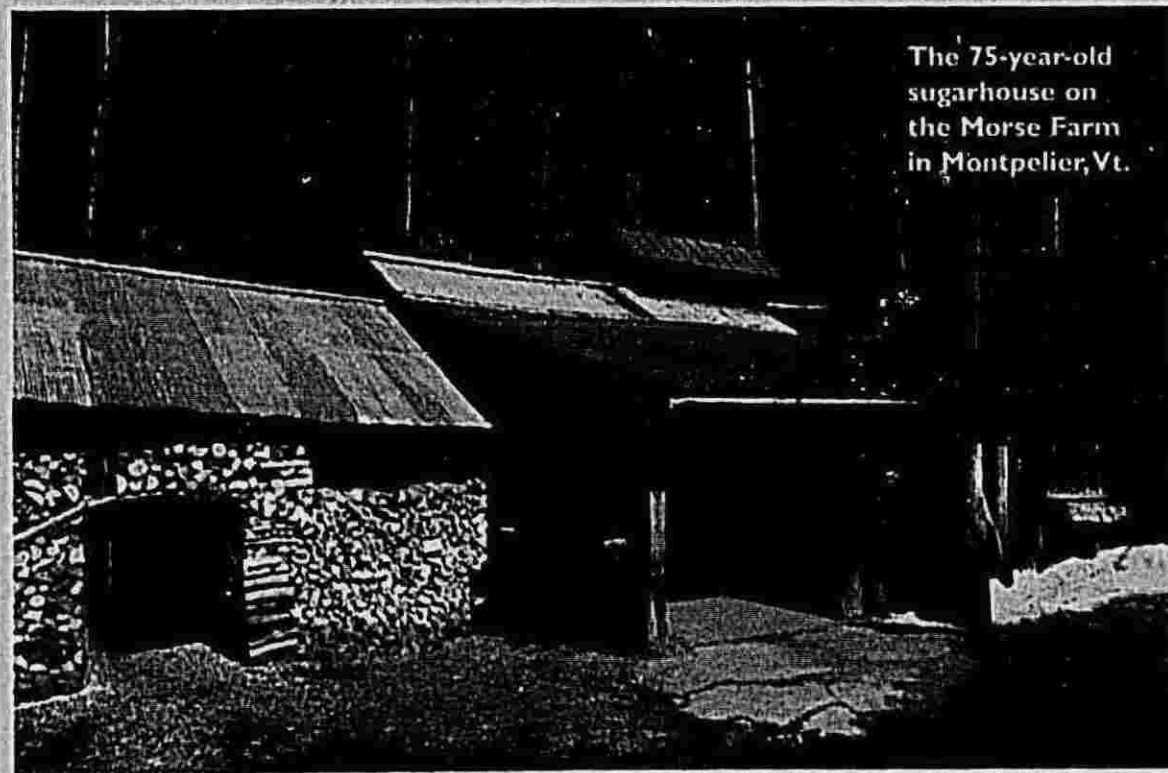

"He loved it," says Burr Morse of his father, as he tends a long shallow stainless steel pan of boiling syrup and plumes of fragrant steam rise through a vent atop the one-room, wood-sided sugarhouse. "He was one of those natural sugar makers."

Making maple syrup is an intense, sometimes

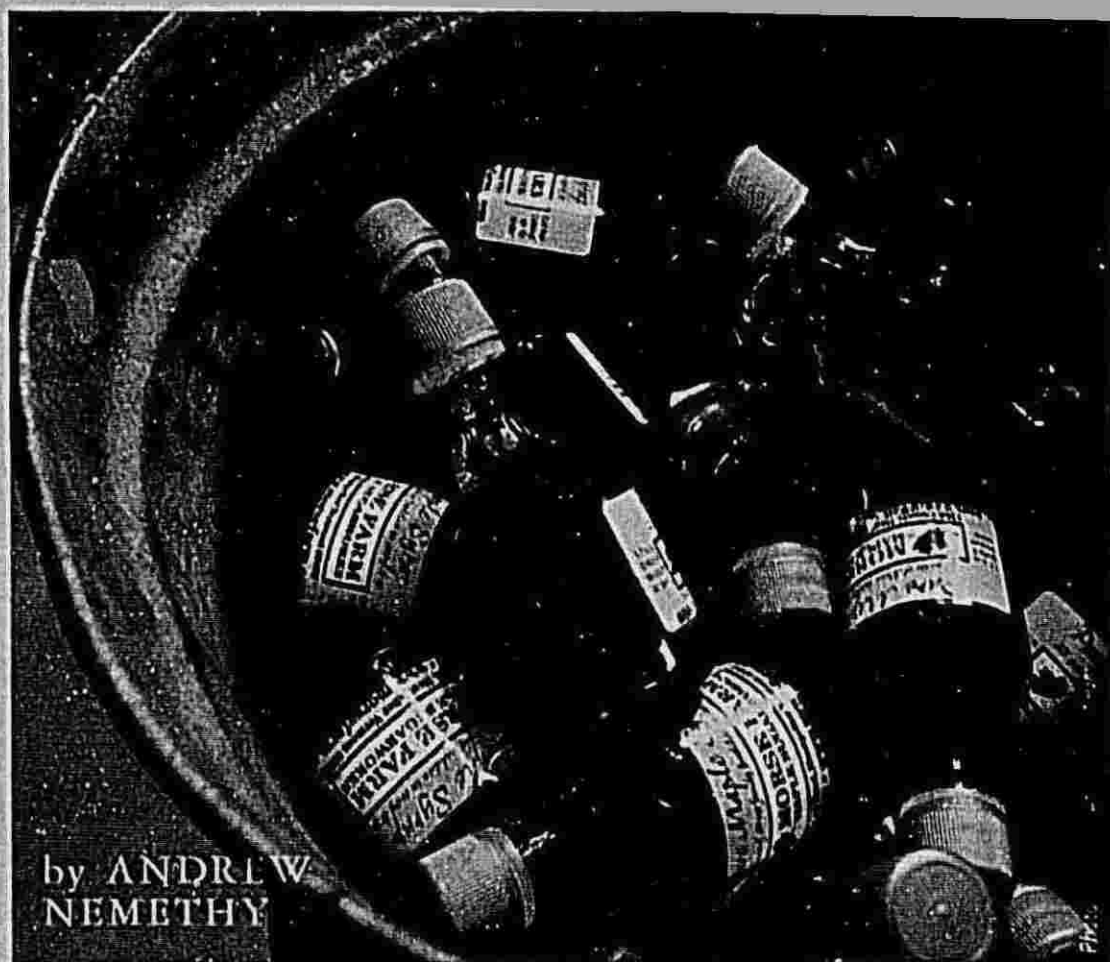

Burr Morse mans the evaporator. bleary-eyed ritual that begins in early March and lasts four to six weeks. When the key ingredients for a sap run come together—freezing nights and warm days—Morse, his son Tom, 26, and brother Elliott, 67, boil like crazy, until the sap tapers off and the maple trees start to bud in April.

On the Morse Farm, sap is boiled at least two hours to evaporate excess water, leaving a thick, delectable liquid that's drizzled over pancakes, waffles and biscuits. "It's wonderful as a topping on vanilla ice cream, too," Burr says.

While sugaring season usually starts in earnest in early March, the work begins weeks earlier. As cross-country skiers glide by snow-covered trails, the Morses tromp through the woods on snowshoes or ride snowmobiles to check taps and five miles of small plastic tubing that draws sap from some 4,000 trees. Farmers traditionally collected sap in buckets using horse-drawn sleighs, but most large producers now use tubing and vacuum pumps to carry sap to the sugarhouse.

"Using buckets was more social in a way," Burr concedes, but he doesn't miss slogging through the snow toting 3- and 5-gallon buckets full of sap. "It was hard work."

Despite such tiresome chores, Morse has fond childhood memories of sugarin' time and traditions that accompanied the annual event. "We'd boil hot dogs in

RECIPE: Breakfast Pizza

Donna Jo Hinson
Kissimmee, Fla.

Breakfast Pizza

- 1 8-ounce can refrigerated crescent rolls
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 pound bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 1 and 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained

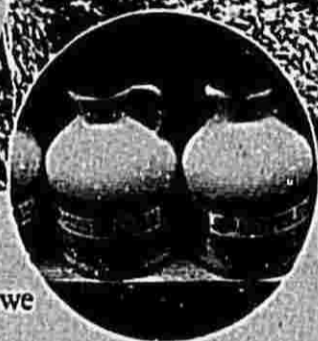

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Unroll dough and press into an even layer, covering the bottom of a lightly greased 12-inch pizza pan. Combine eggs, bacon, cheese and mushrooms, and pour mixture evenly over the dough. Bake 15 to 20 minutes, or until eggs are firm and crust is golden. Makes 3 to 6 servings.

Tips From Our Test Kitchen:

Sliced tomatoes, olives, pepperoni, sliced peppers and green onions also make great toppings.

Vermont is the nation's top maple syrup-producing state. In 2005, the state produced 410,000 gallons.

the syrup—sugar dogs, we called 'em," he recalls.

Today, sugarin' time remains a social occasion on the 240-acre Morse Farm. As sap begins to flow, family members and friends gather to stoke the fire, boil sap and offer free tours of the 75-year-old sugarhouse.

When talking with visitors, Morse keeps a keen eye on the pan of boiling sap while feeding wood chips into the furious fire below. On average, 40 gallons of sap must be boiled to produce one gallon of syrup, which can fetch $40 to $50, depending on its grade. The Morses make 800 to 1,000 gallons of syrup a year.

Like many Vermonters, Morse prefers the "medium amber" grade syrup over the "fancy" grade, the light golden standard. Maple syrup lovers can suit their own tastes during traditional "Sugar on Snow" events across the state in spring, when hot maple sugar is poured on crisp, clean snow and served with doughnuts, coffee—and often a dill pickle.

"It's sweet and sour," says Morse, who'll stick with doughnuts. "Some damn Yankee added the pickle," he adds with a laugh. ☆

Whole. Grains

by JANET HELM

The benefits begin at breakfast

Whole grains are the new darling in the nutrition world. The trouble is, most of us don't eat enough of them or know where to get them.

Scores of studies suggest that eating whole grains may offer protection against heart disease, stroke, diabetes and certain cancers. Whole grains may even help you manage your weight—particularly if you eat them for breakfast.

One recent study found that women who eat high-fiber cereal in the morning tend to weigh less than women who opt for other breakfast foods or skip breakfast entirely. They also eat less at lunchtime. That's because whole grains supply fiber, which promotes a feeling of fullness and delays hunger.

The new food pyramid, released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture last year, recommends that we eat at least three servings of whole grains every day. Because most of the breads, cereals and pasta on our grocery shelves are made from refined grains, not whole grains, nine out of 10 Americans fall short of the guideline.

If you're motivated to eat more whole grains, be sure you know how to spot them. Color is not a good indicator. Just because bread is brown doesn't mean it's whole grain. Caramel coloring, molasses or other ingredients often are used to darken bread. Look for the words "whole grain" or "whole wheat" on the front of the package or listed as the first ingredient. Don't be fooled by the terms "multi-grain," "cracked wheat," "stone ground," "7-grain" or "100 percent wheat." More than likely, refined grains are used.

The best way to add whole grains to your diet is by eating whole grain breads, cereals, crackers, rice and pasta. Also consider adding popcorn and whole grain chips. If cooking with whole grains strikes your fancy, try some of these breakfast recipes. Each packs a good dose of fiber and provides a delicious way to start your day.

Mixed Berry Whole-Grain Coffee Cake

Packing 3 grams of fiber per serving, this coffee cake is great for brunch or as a snack. The recipe is provided by Green Mountain at Fox Run, a women's retreat for healthy living without dieting, in Ludlow, Vt.

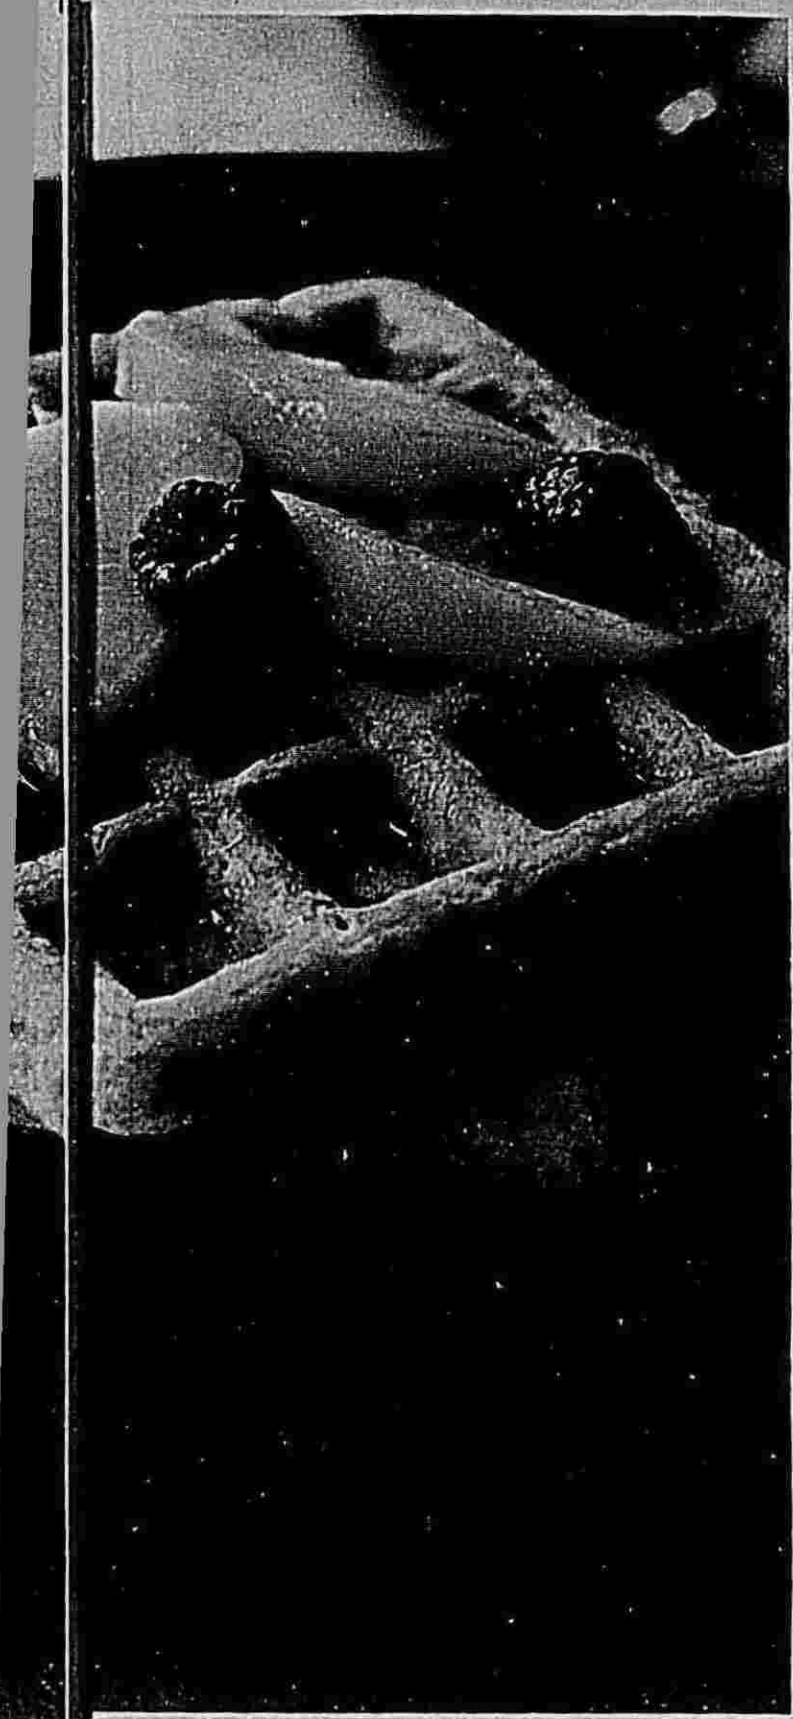

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup quick-cooking oats
- 1 and 1/4 cups all-purpose flour, divided
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup skim milk
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 12-ounce bag frozen, unsweetened mixed berries, thawed and drained, or 2 cups fresh berries
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease, or coat with cooking spray, a 9-inch round or square cake pan. Mix butter, oats, 1/4 cup of the all-purpose flour and brown sugar in small bowl with a fork or pastry cutter until crumbly. Set aside. Combine whole wheat flour, remaining cup of all-purpose flour, sugar, oil, milk, baking powder, cinnamon, salt and egg in large bowl. Beat mixture with whisk or mixer for 1 to 2 minutes, until well blended. Stir in berries. Spread half the batter in pan and sprinkle half the oat mixture on top. Add remaining batter and sprinkle with remaining oat mixture and walnuts. Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve warm. Serves 12.

Wild Rice Waffles

Bonnie Ponstein of the Red Bluff Cottage Bed and Breakfast in Montgomery, Ala., says she usually doubles this recipe and freezes any batter she has left over. To use after freezing, thaw the batter overnight. This recipe provides 4 grams of fiber per waffle.

- 1/2 cup unbleached flour
- 1/2 cup whole wheat flour
- 1 and 3/4 cups cooked wild rice, well drained
- 1/3 cup dried cherries or dried cranberries
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 and 1/4 cups buttermilk
- 2 large eggs, separated
- 1/4 cup melted butter

In a large bowl, mix flours, rice, cherries, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt until combined. In another bowl, combine buttermilk and egg yolks. Add butter and whisk until well combined. Add buttermilk mixture to dry ingredients. Stir well. [Recipe can be made several hours ahead and refrigerated.] Beat egg whites in a separate bowl, then slowly fold into batter. Ladle batter onto preheated, greased waffle iron; cook until browned and slightly crisp. Serve with fresh fruit and warm maple syrup. Yield: 4 waffles.

Yogurt and Granola Parfaits with Blueberry Sauce

This recipe from Fit Food: Eating Well for Life by Ellen Haas (Hatherleigh Press, 2005) highlights the adaptability of whole grains. Each parfait has 4 grams of fiber.

Granola:

2 cups rolled oats
1/4 cup sliced almonds
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup molasses
2 tablespoons water
1 and 1/2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 cup raisins

Blueberry sauce:

1 cup blueberries, fresh or frozen
Juice of 1/2 lemon
2 to 4 tablespoons sugar

Parfaits:

1 cup cubed cantaloupe
1 cup blueberries
4 cups plain, nonfat yogurt

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Combine oats and almonds in a medium bowl. In a small saucepan, combine honey, molasses, water, vegetable oil and cinnamon. Heat through, stirring for about 1 minute. Pour over oat mixture and stir to blend. Spread on a baking sheet and toast, stirring every 10 minutes until golden-crisp, about 30 minutes. Remove from oven and add raisins. Cool completely before serving. Store in an airtight container for up to three weeks in the refrigerator or at room temperature.

Purée berries in a blender with lemon juice. Blend in sugar by the tablespoonful, tasting after each addition, until desired degree of sweetness is reached. Strain through a fine strainer, pressing with a rubber spatula to release the juices.

Layer granola, cantaloupe, blueberries and yogurt in glasses; drizzle with blueberry sauce. Serves 8.

Whole Wheat Muffins

For a breakfast-on-the-run, whip up a batch of these muffins the night before. Each muffin provides 2 grams of fiber. From The Ultimate Muffin Book: More Than 600 Recipes for Sweet and Savory Muffins by Bruce Weinstein and Mark Scarbrough.

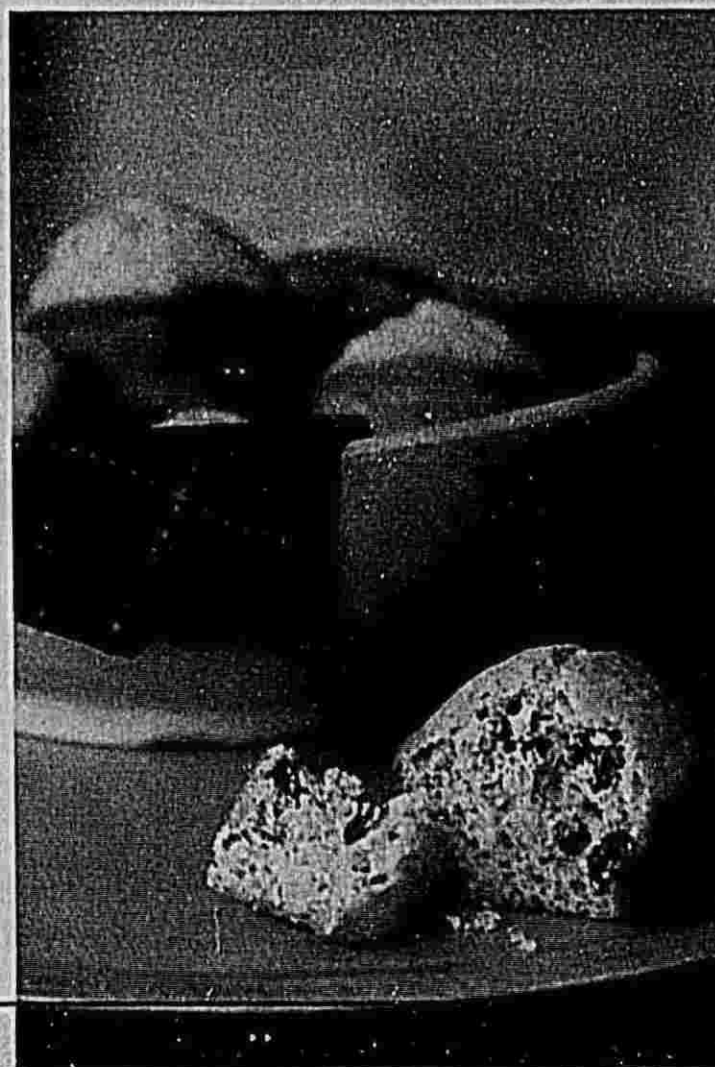

1 and 3/4 cups whole wheat flour
3/4 cup all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 large eggs, at room temperature
1/3 cup honey
1/3 cup maple syrup
3/4 cup milk
1/3 cup canola oil
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Spray a 12-cup muffin tin with cooking spray or insert paper liners into cups. Whisk together whole wheat flour, all-purpose flour, baking powder and salt until well blended. In a large bowl, whisk eggs until lightly beaten. Whisk in honey and maple syrup until smooth, about 30 seconds. Whisk in milk, oil and vanilla. Stir in flour mixture until incorporated. Fill prepared tins three-quarters full. Bake for 22 minutes, or until muffins have rounded, cracked tops. Cool on a wire rack for 10 minutes. Remove muffins from tin and cool an additional 5 minutes on the rack before serving. Yield: 12 muffins.

Variation:

Whole Wheat Cranberry Walnut Muffins: Add 1/3 cup dried cranberries and 1/3 cup chopped walnuts along with the whole wheat flour.

Coffee Can Boston Brown Bread

Boston Brown Bread is steamed rather than baked in an oven. You'll need a lidded pot deep enough to hold a coffee can. This recipe, which provides 2 grams of fiber per serving, is adapted from one provided by Bob's Red Mill Natural Foods of Milwaukie, Ore.

1/2 cup rye flour
1/2 cup whole wheat flour
1/2 cup cornmeal, medium grind
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup dark molasses
1 cup buttermilk

Mix flours, cornmeal, baking soda and salt in a large bowl. Mix with a fork. Blend in molasses and buttermilk. Batter should be the consistency of pancake batter. Butter, or coat with cooking spray, a 13-ounce coffee can and pour in batter, filling the can no more than two-thirds full. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Fill a large stockpot with water (enough to come halfway up coffee can) and bring to a boil. Place covered can in water. Cover stockpot and steam for about 1 and 1/2 hours over medium heat or until a skewer comes out clean when inserted in the middle. Remove can from stockpot and cool on rack for 15 minutes. Remove bread from can and serve warm with cream cheese. Serves 8. ☆

Ever notice how your party always ends up in the kitchen? That's because it's the heart of the home—warm, casual, inviting and, of course, where the food is. But today, we're surrounded with foods engineered to keep us out of the kitchen—frozen food, drive-thru windows and pizza delivery all conspire to minimize our time cooking. In this issue, "Dinner and a Movie" shows how the kitchen nurtures friendships. But the reality is, sometimes we don't always have time to cook—for those times, let the slow cooker do the work. That way you can be somewhere else and come home to a good meal too. If that somewhere else happens to be Vermont, check out the maple syrup Frasier Cooper-Ellis has been making since he was 10—it comes from his kitchen and his heart. As I can't get to Vermont, I plan to relish a short stack with maple syrup . . . in my kitchen.

Say It with Vegetables.

Like it or not, March is devoid of holidays—at least ones that require cards and presents. So, what better time to send a card for no particular reason at all. We love the whimsical food people who grace the cards created by Patience Brewster. From a potato sporting flowers in her hair to a tutu-wearing eggplant, these are vegetables that will make you smile. For more information or a retailer near you, go to www.patiencebrewster.com.

Fennel Facts.

Fennel is a lot like celery, only better. It has the same crunchy texture as celery and works in the same kinds of dishes—mainly soups, stews and stuffings. But unlike celery, it doesn't play second fiddle to onions and carrots as its assertive anise-like flavor stands on its own. Fennel is in season fall through winter. It's great sautéed, braised or raw in salads. It brightens up our White Bean Soup on page 6.

Intelligent Design.

Dog ate your potholders? No sweat—you won't need them with the new Anolon Advanced cookware. It sports silicone rubber SureGrip handles that conform to your hand for a soft, cool, comfortable grip—a prerequisite for heavy cookware. We particularly love the skillets with their nonstick surface and hard-anodized aluminum. Skillets retail for $20 to $75. Available at cookware stores and online at www.anolon.com.

Cooking Coast to Coast—The New American Cooking.

In 2004, Joan Nathan crisscrossed America to explore how we're cooking today. What she found was much more than hamburgers and fries and the ubiquitous Chicken Caesar Salad. She found food that merges local ingredients with new flavors and techniques. She also found some regional dishes still alive and well, such as Date Shakes in The Palm Desert of California, Wild Rice Quiche in Minnesota and Macadamia Bread in Hawaii. Nathan does an excellent job of highlighting the food that Americans—of all ethnic backgrounds—cook today. For recipes from The New American Cooking (Alfred A. Spicy Udon Noodles with Shrimp

This recipe, an instant hit with Lake Austin Spa Resort guests and staff, has just enough heat to get your attention. It is a multicolored and many-textured mosaic of quickly cooked fresh vegetables doused in a pungent Asian sauce before being tossed with fresh herbs, chewy noodles and crunchy toasted peanuts.

- Zest and juice of 1 orange
- 2 tablespoons hoisin sauce
- 1 tablespoon low-sodium soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons Asian chile paste
- 1 ½ tablespoons sugar
- 1 ½ tablespoons rice wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon roasted sesame oil
- 1 tablespoon canola oil
- 1 ½ tablespoons minced garlic
- 1 ½ tablespoons minced fresh ginger
- 6 cups mixed cut raw stir-fry vegetables (broccoli, bok choy, green onion, red bell pepper)
- 8 ounces shrimp, peeled
- 3 cups cooked udon noodles
- ¼ cup chopped fresh basil leaves
- ¼ cup chopped fresh mint leaves
- ¼ cup chopped fresh cilantro leaves

1. Combine orange zest and juice, hoisin sauce, soy sauce, chile paste, sugar and vinegar in a bowl; set aside. Combine sesame oil and canola oil in a small bowl.

2. Heat oil mixture in a skillet over high heat. Add garlic and ginger and stir-fry until they begin to color. Add mixed vegetables and shrimp and continue cooking for 1 to 2 minutes.

3. Add noodles and reserved sauce. Cook for 1 minute. Add basil, mint and cilantro; toss to mix. Serve hot; garnish with peanuts. Serves 4.

Spa food

TEXAS STYLE

Chef Terry Conlan doesn't want to make the best spa food you've ever eaten, he wants to make the best food you've ever eaten. That's a big statement from a down-to-earth, humble guy. But Terry will remind you, he's from Texas, where everything is big. "Subtlety is not my deal—I like big flavors—big, bold, bright come-and-get-you kind of stuff."

When Terry showed up at the Lake Austin Spa Resort in Austin, Texas, 16 years ago, he drew on his extensive experience creating European, Mexican and Caribbean cuisines—and his natural inclination for "leaner, cleaner" flavors.

Besides manning the stoves at one of the country's top-ranked spas, Terry has published two books—the most recent of which, Fresh, was named a finalist in the International Association of Culinary Professionals Cookbook Awards. The book reflects the spirit of the food at the spa: real food, full of flavor, that is as lean and clean as it can be without compromising pleasure.

Although Terry is an advocate of minimally processed food, he's not a stickler. "If I can make a fantastic key lime pie with fat-free Cool Whip, I'm going to do it. If I use only all natural, it limits access to some great ingredients," he says.

When you taste his cooking or use his recipes, it truly is inspiring—precisely because the last thing you think of when you taste it is "spa food." This is food you'll make over and over again—not because it's healthy, but because it just tastes so darn good. The fact that it's good for you just makes you love it all the more. ♪

Bistro Beef Tenderloin with Mushroom Sauce

- 1 cup low sodium beef stock
- ½ cup red wine
- 4 teaspoons all purpose flour
- 4 (4-ounce) beef tenderloin steaks
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 teaspoons olive oil, divided
- 4 tablespoons minced shallot
- 8 small mushrooms, quartered
- ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon thyme

1. Combine first 3 ingredients in a bowl and set aside.

2. Season steaks with salt and pepper. Heat 1 teaspoon oil in heavy skillet. Cook steaks over medium-high heat to desired doneness. Remove steaks and set aside.

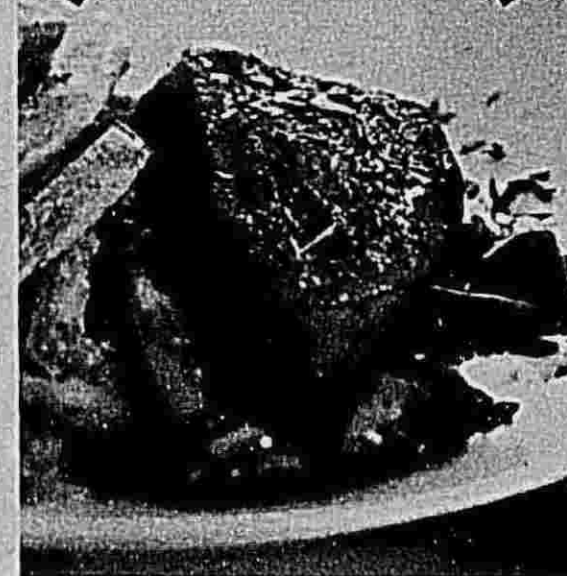

3. Add remaining oil and shallots and cook, scraping to loosen crusted meat particles. Add mushrooms.

4. Whisk stock mixture and thyme into the skillet. Cook, stirring, to sauce consistency. Add accumulated juices from the standing steaks.

5. Serve steaks on warm plates with sauce and roasted potatoes. Serves 4.

Slow-cooked food in a "Good Food Fast" column? No, it's not a mistake. Today's slow cookers are not like the crockpots your mom or grandmother rushed out to buy when this hot appliance hit the shelves in the early 1970s. Today some come with switches that automatically turn the heat down at a preset time. Some have inserts that can be used on the stovetop for browning meat or sautéing other ingredients before hand. Still others (above) have inserts pretty enough to go from the slow cooker straight to the table. What could be better than dishes that virtually cook themselves. Assemble the ingredients, toss in the slow cooker, then off you go to work or play. When you come home, dinner or dessert will be ready and waiting. ♪

Ready and Waiting

Orange Rice Pudding with Golden Raisins

- 4 cups 2% low-fat milk
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup uncooked medium-grain rice
- ⅓ cup golden raisins
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg

1. Combine milk, sugar and rice in a medium slow cooker. Cover and cook, stirring occasionally, on high for 3 to 3 ½ hours or until creamy. Pudding will thicken as it cools. Stir in raisins and orange rind. Before serving, sprinkle with a dusting of nutmeg. Serves 8.

White Bean Soup with Swiss Chard

- 1 pound dried Great Northern or cannellini beans
- 1 cup chopped fennel
- 3 large leeks, thinly sliced
- 1 (12-ounce) ham hock
- ¼ teaspoon coarse black pepper
- 7 cups water
- 3 cups coarsely chopped Swiss chard
- 14 slices baguette (8 ounces)
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Gruyère cheese

1. Place beans, fennel, leeks, ham hock and pepper in a large slow cooker. Add 7 cups water. Cook on high for 5 to 6 hours or until beans are soft. Add another cup of water if needed.

2. If desired, mash some of beans with a potato masher to make a creamy consistency. Stir in chard and cook another 15 minutes.

3. Remove ham hock. Strip lean meat from hock and place in beans.

4. To prepare croutons, arrange cheese over bread. Broil until cheese is melted and bubbly.

5. Ladle into bowls and top with croutons. Serves 7.

Chicken in Tomato-Peanut Sauce

- 6 boneless, skinless chicken thighs
- ¼ cup unseasoned dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 cup diced onion
- ½ cup diced red bell pepper
- 1 (14-ounce) can diced tomatoes, undrained
- ⅓ cup peanut butter
- 2 garlic cloves, crushed
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- ⅛ teaspoon crushed red pepper, or to taste
- ½ cup canned lower sodium, chicken broth
- 3 tablespoons coarsely chopped dry roasted peanuts
- Chopped cilantro

1. Dredge chicken in bread crumbs. In a large nonstick skillet heat oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken and cook until golden brown on both sides. Transfer to a medium-size slow cooker.

2. Add onion and bell pepper to skillet; cook 4 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, peanut butter, garlic, sugar, soy sauce, red pepper and broth. Spoon over chicken.

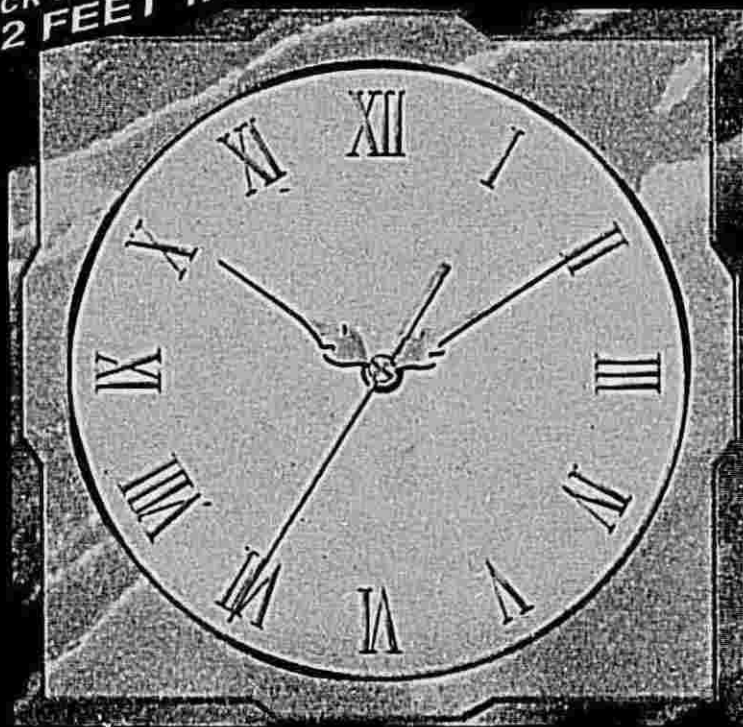

3. Cover and cook on low for 3 hours or until chicken is tender. Serve with peanuts and cilantro. Serves 6.

Dinner & a Movie

By JILL MELTON

Gab, girlfriends and good grub—what could be better? “It’s nowhere near the investment of a book club, and it’s a lot more fun,” I tell folks. “It” is my video group, which consists of five very special friends and myself who get together once a month for dinner and a movie.

It works like this: the second Tuesday of each month we get together at the host’s house. The host rotates and is responsible for choosing the movie and making the meal. Initially the food was just snacks—popcorn, M&M’s and the like—but over the years, the meals became more elaborate—sometimes even matching the theme of the movie. Hearty beefy borscht accompanied The Russians are Coming, and pounded “chick” (chicken breasts) took center stage for Million Dollar Baby. But that doesn’t mean we’re all elaborate cooks. One gal orders carry out, and another assembles something yummy with the help of a specialty foods market. But then, the food really isn’t the point. Come to think of it, neither is the movie. It’s about the friendship. So, we eat dinner, chitchat, then settle into our movie. Sometimes we have lengthy discussions about the film we watched; sometimes not. Sometimes we laugh; sometimes we cry and go home in silence. The good thing is there are no rules, except to show up... preferably hungry. ♪

These Italian cookies are perfect for munching through a movie. Serve with vanilla ice cream.

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 (8-ounce) bar premium white chocolate, finely chopped
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 eggs
- 1 egg white

1. Preheat oven to 350F. Combine first 5 ingredients in a large bowl. Combine vanilla with next 2 ingredients. Add to flour mixture; stir until well blended (dough will be dry).
2. Turn dough out onto a lightly floured surface and knead lightly 7 or 8 times. Shape dough into a 16-inch-long roll. Place roll on a baking sheet coated with cooking spray; flatten to 1-inch thickness.
3. Bake for 30 minutes. Let cool. Cut roll diagonally into 24 (1½-inch) slices, and place slices, cut sides down, on baking sheet. Reduce oven temperature to 325F and bake for 10 minutes. Turn cookies over and bake for an additional 10 minutes (the cookies will be slightly soft in center but will harden as they cool). Remove from baking sheet, and let cool completely on wire rack. So, what will the weather be like this March—in like a lion and out like a lamb, or vice-versa? Shall we light up the fireplace or fire up the grill? (Ask the Wine Geek)

Wine expert Charles Smothermon answers your questions.

Q. I rarely spend more than $10 on a bottle of wine. What am I getting when I splurge for an expensive bottle?

A. You certainly can find some good wines at around $10 a bottle; however, you might have to kiss a few frogs before you find that prince. When you plunk down $15 to $30, you increase your odds of finding a truly remarkable wine—one with an evocative combination of intense aromas and flavors. Ready to taste what all this means? Buy a good, inexpensive, mass-produced wine, then splurge for a limited wine of the same grape variety from the same producer. Such wines often have the word "reserve" on their label, or bear the name of a specific vineyard. Try the wines side-by-side to begin to taste what you're paying for when you step up in price.

America's harvest

Steam billows above a sugar house—a sure sign that maple syrup production is in full swing.

Vermont's Liquid Gold

It's sugaring season in Vermont, a sweet, dramatic, energetic dance between humans and nature when sap is collected, consolidated and boiled down, into liquid gold: maple syrup. For Frasier Cooper-Ellis, 56, who's been sugaring since he was 10, "It's the most totally alive time of year."

Warm, sunny days and cold, below-freezing nights cue the trees to convert starch (gathered the previous summer, stored through winter) into sugar. Depending on the weather, the sugaring season can last a few days or go on for six or seven weeks.

"Maple trees are the ultimate renewable resource," says Frasier. But renewability requires patience, perseverance, work and stewardship. The next time you gasp at the price of real maple syrup, consider this: It takes 30 to 40 years for a maple tree to grow large enough to be tapped. Most trees have just one, maybe two taps, with each tap yielding just 10 gallons of sap annually. It then takes 40 gallons of sap to make just 1 gallon of maple syrup.

Perhaps this accounts for the flavor: not just sweet, but elusive, hauntingly delicious and wild.

Much has changed technologically since the days when 10-year-old Frasier first dragged a toboggan with a milk can on it around, pouring the sap buckets' contents in, one by one. Now, spigots of plastic are drilled into the trees as close to the time of sap flow as possible. The sap is collected not tree by tree but through an elaborate system of crisscrossed plastic tubes, which flow the sap into the sugar house for processing.

"Sugaring's not like milking cows, day in, day out," says Frasier.

"It comes and goes with the seasons.

It's unpredictable. It's magic." Think beyond pancakes. See how maple syrup adds a new dimension to other dishes like Brussels sprouts. ♪

In this sprightly recipe, Brussels sprouts are stir-fried with an Asian-inspired maple glaze. Try these with roasted chicken or any roasted meat, or make a vegetarian main dish by stirring in 8 ounces of diced firm tofu, seasoned or plain, into the finished dish.

- 1 1/2 pounds Brussels sprouts, bottoms trimmed, halved
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
- 1/4 cup maple syrup
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Several grinds of fresh black pepper
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 small onion, cut into slivers
- 1 red bell pepper, cut into thin strips

1. Bring a large pot of water to a boil. Drop Brussels sprouts in the boiling water and cook them 2 minutes. Drain, rinsing with cold water.

2. Whisk together soy sauce, mustard, maple syrup, salt and pepper. Set aside.

3. Heat oil in a heavy nonstick skillet. Add onion and red bell pepper; sauté 5 minutes. Add Brussels sprouts. Sauté 4 minutes.

4. Add glaze. Cook until vegetables are coated and glaze thickens, about 2 minutes. Serve immediately. Serves 6.

The Legend of  Brooks®

Legend has it, in 1942, the Kalamazoo School Bake-Off changed forever. That year, Mary Jane Hansen broke the rules by bringing a crock of her famous Brooks® Chili and won first place. Hence, the birth of a favorite Midwest tradition, the

Hi, I'm David Oreck, let's shed some light on the subject of vacuum cleaners.

First, most vacuums sold today spew dust that can carry germs back into your home. And you and your family get to breathe it in. But not the new Hypo-Allergenic Oreck XL Ultra with its eight-filter system. Second, most vacuums sold today are overweight, hard to use and a chore to lug up and down stairs. But not the new Oreck XL Ultra. At only 8 lbs. light, it's a fraction of the weight of most vacuums (but has the suction power equivalent of 102 mph!) and a pleasure to use. And finally, most vacuums sold today are so poorly made their guarantees are embarrassing. But not the new Oreck XL Ultra. It has an 8-year guarantee, and to keep it running like new, we give you eight free annual tune ups (a $240 value). Nobody does this but Oreck!

I'M SO CONVINCED MY NEW 8-LB ORECK XL ULTRA IS SUPERIOR TO ANY OTHER VACUUM that I'll give you this Verilux Lamp just for trying my vacuum for 30 days — risk free. This $150 Verilux Lamp increases the contrast between black and white to make reading easier. Since 1956 Verilux has specialized in naturally-balanced, visually-efficient lighting solutions. Even fine print will be crisp, clear and easy to see. You'll be able to read without squinting or straining.

FREE WITH PURCHASE OF THE ORECK XL ULTRA IS MY ORECK HOUSEKEEPER® COMPACT CANISTER. It's the one you've seen on TV pick up a 16-lb. bowling ball. Hand-held or shoulder-worn, it's the perfect above-the-floor vacuum.

TRY THE NEW HYPO-ALLERGENIC 8-LB. XL ULTRA RISK FREE FOR 30 DAYS. Then decide. If you don't love it, you don't keep it.™ But keep the lamp as a gift. There's no obligation. What do you have to lose except the hidden dirt your present vacuum leaves behind?

MARCH 21, 2006

GENERAL PRIMARY ELECTION

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that on Tuesday, March 21, 2006, at the listed Polling Places in the various precincts in Lake County, Illinois, a General Primary Election will be held for the purpose of securing an expression of sentiment and will of the voters with respect to candidates for nomination or election and for the purpose of voting on certain propositions. The polls of said General Primary Election shall be open continuously from 6:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, March 21, 2006.

Dated at Waukegan, Illinois, February 28, 2006.

INTRODUCING THE AUTOMARK

The AutoMARK is a ballot-marking system designed to provide privacy and accessibility to voters who are blind, vision-impaired, or have a disability or condition that would make it difficult or impossible to mark a ballot in the usual way. The system offers audio-ballots, enlarged ballot print, touch screen or keypad, sip-and-puff interface, and touch pads for limited mobility.

Through the AutoMARK system voters may privately listen to instructions and ballot choices in a volume and speed level comfortable to them. These voters will be able to cast their vote unassisted, thereby maintaining privacy and anonymity.

The AutoMARK Voting System will be available for the first time in all early voting and Election Day polling locations in Lake County for the March 2006 primary. For more information about the AutoMARK voting system, call 847-377-2314 or visit our website at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyck to see a video on the AutoMARK.

Dear Lake County Voter:

We are pleased to provide this Voter Information Guide which lists all the candidates and referenda for the March 21, 2006 General Primary Election. We are also excited to inform you about the new ADA accessible AutoMARK voter assist terminals available at each polling place throughout Lake County. Additionally, new state law permits any registered voter to vote early beginning 22 days prior to Election Day. Early voting for the March primary begins February 27, 2006 and ends March 16, 2006. The early voting locations are listed on page 32 of this guide.

Your red, white and blue voter card lists the federal, state and local districts for which you are entitled to vote. County and statewide offices common to all Lake County voters are not listed on your voter card. Use the local voting districts list to find the candidates and public questions which are applicable to you. If you have not received your voter card, call us at 847-377-2410 for assistance. Only persons who are registered to vote in Lake County may vote here. If you moved to Lake County or changed your name more than 27 days before the election and did not register here prior to Election Day, you will not be able to vote on March 21.

Our website at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyck offers pictures of your polling place, directions and a map from your home. Just click on "Where's My Polling Place." You may select "What's on my ballot?" to see a specimen of your official ballot. You may also verify your polling place and early voting site(s) using the County Clerk's website or using this guide. This guide lists all polling places by township and precinct number order. This guide may be taken into the voting booth with you.

All of us in the County Clerk's office are dedicated to providing you the best possible service. Please do not hesitate to call us at 847-377-2400, or use our TTY/TDD service at 847-377-2022, if you have questions or need clarification about the voting process on Election Day.

Very truly yours,

Willard R. Helander

I HEREBY CERTIFY THAT THE ABOVE IS A TRUE AND CORRECT LISTING OF THE POLLING PLACE LOCATIONS FOR THE GENERAL PRIMARY ELECTION TO BE HELD IN LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS, ON TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 2006.

Willard R. Helander
WILLARD R. HELANDER, County Clerk
LAKE COUNTY, ILLINOIS

Make Certain Your Write-In Vote Counts

The optical scan ballot has made voting for a write-in candidate easier, but only a write-in vote for a person who filed a Declaration of Intent To Be a Write-In Candidate form with the Lake County Clerk is valid, and therefore, counted.

A write-in candidate must file his intent to be a write-in candidate by 5:00 p.m., Tuesday, March 14, 2006. While it is easy to write in a name on your ballot, a vote for an individual who has not filed as a write-in is not counted.

To cast a write-in vote for a declared candidate, clearly print the name on the line provided under the appropriate office and fill in the corresponding oval. To request a declaration form, call 847-377-2311.

Voting by Absentee Ballot by Mail

You may vote by absentee ballot if you:

- expect to be absent from the county on Election Day.
- are a student away at school.
- are physically incapacitated and unable to go to the polls.
- are employed as an election judge not in your home polling place, are an election worker, or will perform official duties on Election Day.
- are observing a religious holiday which prevents your presence at the polls.
- are serving as a juror on Election Day.
- are admitted to the hospital within five days prior to the election.
- are incarcerated as a pretrial detainee.

First-Time Voters Who Register by Mail

If you registered by mail and did not provide proof of identity at the time you did so, the first time you vote you are required to show current and valid identification with your name and address. Valid forms of identification include IL driver's license, IL state ID, utility bill including voter's name and address, imprinted check book or bank statement.

If you do not have any of these forms of ID, you are entitled to cast a provisional ballot. However, in order for your ballot to be counted, you must submit a copy of your ID to the Lake County Clerk's office by 5 p.m. on the second day after the election.

WHAT IS EARLY VOTING?

Lake County voters no longer need a reason or "excuse" to qualify to vote prior to Election Day. The Lake County Clerk's office is pleased to offer one of the state's most comprehensive early voting programs with 23 sites for early voting.

Q. Who can vote early?

A. Any registered voter.

Q. When can I vote early?

A. Beginning 22 days prior to an election through the Thursday before Election Day. For hours of each location, see the listing below.

Q. Where can I go to vote early?

A. Your township office. (Waukegan or Newport Township residents vote at the County Clerk's office in Waukegan.) To find your early voting location see the listing below or visit our website at www.co.lake.il.us/cntyckl.
